Men and Women Garment Workers Walk Out, Tying Up Great Industry

Leaders Threaten to Extend Order to Other Unions; No Disorder Expected

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Men and women garment workers, estimated at 125,000, went out on strike in New York today, tying up approximately 4000 factories. They demand higher pay and better working conditions. Picket squads of 12 have been posted at all the factories affected. Violence has been discountenanced by the leaders and the walkout today was accompanied by no disorder.

More than 1000 pickets were ordered by a vote of the workers at a late night meeting to report in the several districts as early as 5 o'clock this morning to distribute proclamations printed in several languages explaining the purposes of the strike.

The strike is confined at present to the makers of men's and boys' clothing. Of the 125,000 workers in this industry, there are about 40,000 women.

STRIKE TO BE EXTENDED.

It was declared today, however, that the Ladies' Garment Workers' union was also at work organizing its forces for the demand of an extension to other branches of a peace agreement signed two years ago.

MINISTER IS UNFROCKED BY CHURCH

The Rev. A. G. Mortimer Deposed as Episcopal Priest, Bishop Announces

Offense Is Declared to Be Serious, but Details Are Not Given

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—The Rev. Alfred G. Mortimer, who suddenly resigned last week as rector of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church of this city, has been deposed as a priest. It was announced today by Bishop Rhinelander, following the receipt of a letter by the bishop from Dr. Mortimer, in which the latter renounced the ministry.

The unfrocking took place in the presence of two priests of the church in accordance with the canons of the denomination. In making the announcement the bishop's secretary said:

"The matter is very serious and must be made known to the ministers and bishops of the church."

This was the only statement made regarding the offense of the unfrocked clergyman.

Dr. Mortimer, who is 64 years old, is staying with a brother in Jersey City. It is said he intends to sail for England shortly. He came to this city from England in 1877.

ROYAL ROSARIANS HERE IN ROSE-DECKED TRAIN ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME IS ACCORDED VISITORS.

PROMINENT ROSARIANS OF PORTLAND, OREGON

Famed Boosters' Legion See City; Banquet at Hotel Tonight

The Royal Rosarians are ours! Portland's famed legion of boosters, who came to see and conquer, captured before the spirit of the new Oakland 15 minutes after their rose-decked train of 13 glistening white cars had rolled into the Sixteenth-street depot.

The visitors were taken completely by surprise. Figuratively, and almost literally, they were carried off their feet by the welcoming Oaks, who for the past three weeks have been preparing to beat Portland at its own game.

The Royal Rosarians had just come from Sacramento, where they had been informally received at the Hotel Sacramento with a band concert. They expected that Oakland would meet them with the glad hand of hospitality, but never for a moment did they suspect that Portland would be out-Portlanded in the second city of the line.

CLIMAX THIS EVENING.

That's just what happened, however, and the climax of it all will come tonight at the Hotel Oakland, when 300 people will sit down to a welcoming dinner where the boost spirit will be uncoined with all the wit and ginger of which the most famous man of two cities are capable. Oakland is determined that no city on the coast can teach her anything in the line of hospitality. It is a daring thing to do, this attempt to meet the Royal Rosarians on their own field, but Oakland is getting away with it today in great show.

Mayor Frank K. Mott and a committee of 100 citizens, reinforced by the famous Aahmes temple band of the Mystic Shrine and the Aahmes patrol in full uniform, and the special women's well-

Crusaders Attempt to Lower Apple Prices

Housewives' League of America Sells Baldwins at Five Cents a Quart.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The food crusaders started today to break the high price of apples with a carload on hand and "unlimited" supplies behind them, they said they began selling Baldwins at 5 cents a quart. The local retailers have been asking 15 to 15 cents a quart.

The sale was conducted at the Queensboro Bridge Market by Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the Housewives' League of America. Sales of other products are promised.

Light Showers Only Are Due

McAdie Predicts Sunshine for Greater Part of Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Only a few light showers, which may pass off, are predicted to cloud the sunshine which prevailed in the cities about the bay, following last night's downpour. Forecaster Alexander McAdie of the United States Weather Bureau cannot see any more rain for California in the near future, and believes that for the present winter is over.

The precipitation last night amounted to .16 and came from a storm which was over Washington and British Columbia, but which has now been wafted eastward, and is giving a general rain to Idaho and Montana.

Last night's downpour was only local, and extended only 50 miles from this city. The temperature has been climbing steadily, and while there is no heavy rain in sight, it is likely that there will be some before the week is out.

Woman Climbs to Top of City Hall

Mrs. H. H. Lewin Wins Ice Cream Soda for Herself and Friends.

Mrs. H. H. Lewin climbed to the top of the new city hall yesterday on a wicker chair, the first of a party of seven who started from the ground floor of the structure. By reaching the base of the flagstaff, Mrs. Lewin won ice cream soda for herself and several women companions, who were included in the party. The party was accompanied by two policemen. Of the party of seven, Mrs. Lewin was the only one to reach the summit.

Since the completion of the steel work on the new city hall, least three women have gone to the top of the structure, according to the watchman of the building. Two of these made the ascent while it was still necessary to climb the upper stories on ladders. The names of these women were not known to the watchman.

New Arrival Weighs Just Seventeen Ounces

Child Is Perfectly Formed Despite Remarkably Small Size.

AURORA, Ill., Dec. 30.—A 17-ounce girl was born in the city hospital here last night. The child is perfectly formed and apparently is strong. Mrs. Eva Root of Aurora is the mother. Her wedding ring can be slipped on one of the child's legs.

Two Men Plunge to Death When Scaffolding Breaks

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The parting of a rope attached to a scaffold on which two painters, Edward Hannan and John L. Crawford, were working, sent them hurtling through the air to their death at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The accident occurred on the Whitney Building, 133 Geary street. The two men were engaged in painting a fire wall in a tight wall. Their scaffold was constructed at the seventh story. Without SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

PATRICK F. FARRELL, New York.

JAMES COONEY, Chicago.

JAMES COUGHLIN, Chicago.

HIRSH R. KLINE, Muncie, Ind.

FRANK J. MURPHY, Detroit.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 30.—Sentences varying from seven years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans., to one year and one day, and two suspended sentences, were today imposed upon the 38 labor union officials convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' International Union, was given a sentence of seven years. Olaf A. Tveitmoe, of San Francisco, convicted on charges of aiding in plotting the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, and Eugene A. Clancy, also of San Francisco, were given six years each. Herbert S. Hockin received six years.

Judge Anderson, after the sentences, read from the bench a statement in which he said:

"The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder, but as they are not charged here with that crime this court cannot punish them for it."

All the prisoners who received prison terms are to be taken to Leavenworth, Kans., probably tonight.

A remarkable scene in the struggle of the wives of the prisoners of the dynamite case was witnessed today. It was ordered that all the spectators should be cleared from the room and the prisoners be allowed to talk with members of their families.

Some of the men made pleas for mercy, others wept in the arms of their wives. But the court pronounced sentences one by one, regardless of the pleas.

Five men were given their sentences through suspended sentences. These included W. C. Clark of Cincinnati, the dynamiter, who confessed to blowing up a bridge with the help of Hockin. He had appeared as a witness for the government. Orville E. McManis, another confessed dynamiter, was not sentenced at this time.

FEDERAL PRISON THEIR HOME.

In some cases sentences of one year and one day were imposed, so that these men might be confined in a federal prison. Prisoners with terms of less than one year are kept in county jails.

Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson had many of the prisoners whom he considered less guilty than the rest brought before him to make statements.

For an hour and a half the judge thus in a conversational way talked to the prisoners, asking them whether they were ready to make a statement, and if not, why not. All of them, in a general way, refused to make a statement.

One prisoner, however, made a statement. He said he was a dead man, and would not make a statement.

SENTENCES METED OUT.

For the thirty-eight men convicted sentences were imposed as follows:

One prisoner received seven years. Eight prisoners received six years each.

Two prisoners received four years each.

Twelve prisoners received three years each.

Four prisoners received two years each.

Six prisoners received one year and one day each.

Five prisoners were given their liberty through suspended sentences.

Edward W. Clarke, Cincinnati, though he pleaded guilty was given a suspended sentence, making a total of 38 prisoners disposed of.

The entire proceedings in court as a climax to the three months' dynamite conspiracy trial, required only two hours from the time court opened shortly after 10 a. m. to a few minutes after the noon hour.

REVIEWS THE CASE.

Before Judge Anderson passed sentence, he asked the prisoners whether they were ready to make a statement, and if not, why not. All of them, in a general way, refused to make a statement.

One prisoner, however, made a statement. He said he was a dead man, and would not make a statement.

RAILROAD MEN TO MEET AT BANQUET

W. A. Whitney and C. H. Ketcham of S. P. Will be Honored.

Employees of the Southern Pacific Company will honor W. A. Whitney, superintendent of the Western Division, and C. H. Ketcham, assistant superintendent, at a banquet to be given this evening in the Hotel Oakland. George Gaylord will act as toastmaster. Toasts will be responded to by the heads of various departments.

The complimentary guests will leave this city January 1 to assume new positions in the system. Whitney has been promoted to the Sacramento Division, where he will succeed W. A. Sheridan, who has been appointed to the charge of general superintendent of the El Paso lines, with headquarters at Houston, Texas. Ketcham has been placed in charge of the Stockton division, with the main office at Stockton.

Whitney's place will be taken by J. D. Brennan, who comes from Stockton. B. B. Campbell, who has been trainmaster at the Oakland Mole, will succeed Ketcham.

CONGRESS READY FOR APPROPRIATION

Measures in Good Shape; Fortifications Measure Below Estimates.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The appropriation measures are in good shape for final passage before the short session of Congress ends on March 4. For the first time in many years, the urgent deficiency bill was avoided during the pre-holiday recess. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bills have passed from the House to the Senate and the Indian and postoffice appropriation bills are pending before the House.

The fortifications bill, which will cut considerably under the $7,000,000 estimated by the War Department for the purpose, is ready to follow these supply measures. The army appropriation bill is almost completed and only a few finishing touches are needed on the rivers and harbors omnibus appropriation bill, which will run into a total appropriation $30,000,000.

TRIES TO RECOVER HAT; IS KILLED

Loses Footing on Girder and Falls 25 Feet Through Glass Roof.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 30.—An unidentified man, about 30 years old, medium height and roughly dressed, lost his life yesterday, when he tried to recover a battered old hat which the wind had blown from his head and dropped on the glass roof over the Great Northern tracks at the King-street passenger station. Against the warning of bystanders, the man climbed over the parapet separating the street from the glass canopy and carefully made his way along a narrow iron girder toward the hat. Just when it was within reach he lost his footing and fell with a crash through the roof to the street 25 feet below. The only clue to his identity was a fragment of a letter addressed to "Jack Thomas," and mailed from Greeley, Colo. Late to night the old hat still lay on the glass roof, just beyond the ragged hole through which its owner fell to death.

STEALS SAVINGS BANK FROM HOME OF SISTER

Edmond Hughes was taken into custody last night when Patrolman Brock saw him wandering about in a suspicious manner near Fifteenth and West streets. Brock found that Hughes had a small metal bank in his possession, which he had broken open. Hughes admitted having taken the bank from the home of his sister, Mrs. Sarah Parry, 645 Thirty-seventh street. The police found $1.90 in dimes in Hughes' pockets. Hughes has been placed in detinue, and will probably be charged with burglary.

OAKLAND GIRL IS MISSING FROM HOME

The police have been asked by the county probation officer to assist in the search for Allen Mudd, 17 years of age, who has been missing from his home, 2308 Eleventh avenue, since Saturday. The girl has run away before, according to Assistant Probation Officer Edith McGraw.

'LIVE WIRE' AD MAN THINKS WELL OF GREATER OAKLAND

ALBERT G. CLARK, PRESIDENT OF THE AD CLUB OF PORTLAND, ORE., WHO IS VISITING HERE.

Albert G. Clark, president of the Portland Ad Club, who is a member of the party of Rosarians being entertained in Oakland today, is one of the "live wires" of the northwest and an enthusiast of the possibilities of Pacific Coast development. To a Tribune representative Clark said:

"California is certainly a great state and its resources are practically unlimited. I look for a tremendous development here as well as in Oregon on the completion of the Panama canal. Oakland is certainly making preparations on a grand scale for that event and taking its place among the most progressive cities on the Pacific Coast. Our people in Portland believe that there is going to be business enough for several great cities, and that there is no reason why there should be local jealousies, or one city should be envious of another. The next few years are going to be most important in shaping the future development of commerce and industry on the Pacific Coast.

NOTABLES ENDURE STORMY VOYAGE

Daughter of Premier Among Guests on Celtic; Encounters Storms.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Storm-tossed and wave-battered, the steamship Celtic of the White Star line arrived yesterday after the most tempestuous voyage of her career. She was ten days in crossing the Atlantic.

Among those arriving was Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the British premier, who is chartered by Lady Aberdeen. They left the steamship for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps, where they will stay until today, when they will go to Washington to stop with Ambassador Bryce and Mrs. Bryce at the British embassy.

Among others in the first cabin were Miss Daisy Jerome and Captain Max de Bathe, neither of whom had the least hesitancy in discussing their mission to this country. Miss Jerome, with her mother, is here to give a series of "dramatic and comedy readings," the subject of one of which is "Press, Pulpit and Petticoat."

The array of jewelry she wore eclipsed anything recently seen. Miss Jerome said the rings she wore and various brooches and necklaces that adorned her were valued at $70,000. She added that her gowns cost her $10,000, and that she was justly proud of them.

Captain de Bathe, who is a brother-in-law of Lily Langtry, brought several chickens with him, to be exhibited in the poultry show here.

LIFEBOAT FAILS; SEVEN IN DANGER

Tragedy Narrowly Averted During Tests Held on Army Transport.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Failure of newly patented lifeboat tackle, properly to perform its functions nearly resulted in a tragedy on board the United States army transport Logan yesterday, when seven men were dropped into the ocean from an elevation of 30 feet during experimental work with new life saving apparatus.

When the boat dropped, men on deck were putting in sandbags for ballast. One of these bags struck Edward T. Duke, a sailor on the Logan, on the stomach, hurled him and he fell into the water. He was unable to swim.

He had gone down the second time when L. C. Drewson, second officer of the United States, saw the man in the water. He was in a lifeboat that had just been lowered, sprang overboard and held up the sailor until the crew of the boat was able to drag him aboard. Had it not been for the quick action of Drewson, those on board the Logan believe that the sailor certainly would have been drowned. The other men who were thrown into the sea escaped with nothing more severe than a wetting in the chilly waters.

Members of the Fort Point life saving crew were aboard the Logan when the accident occurred, but did not take an active part in the rescue work as did the sailors of the transport. Second Officer Drewson was aboard the Logan merely for the day's trip, which was for the purpose of experimenting with various life saving devices.

The trip was made under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel John T. Knight, quartermaster corps, general superintendent of the army transport service. Major S. F. Bottoms, United States army; Captain R. Bain of the Sheridan, Captain L. H. O'Donnell of the transport service and other officers were among the guests of Colonel Knight. The vessel went out at 9 o'clock in the morning, proceeded off the Heads, where experiments were made with different kinds of lifeboats, and returned to the transport docks at Fort Mason at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

It was in the morning that the accident to the lifeboat occurred. Following it were experiments with various kinds of lifeboats and minor life saving apparatus.

After luncheon one of the interesting experiments of the day was made when A. H. Klipp went overboard from the transport in a waterproof suit of air compartments and floated around the vessel for some time. Then without any receiving a warning, he was pulled out of the water by a rope. The experiment was successful.

Several interesting demonstrations of life saving life saving also on the return trip. Several varieties of patent hooks for use on lifeboats were tried out with more or less successful results.

STOCKTON THIEVES CAUGHT WITH LOOT

Taken Prisoners as They Step From River Boat in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Within a few hours after they had broken into a Japanese pawn shop at Stockton and also raided a hotel there, stealing a number of suitcases, three burglars were captured by the San Francisco police with their loot. All were heavily armed. One of them was caught only after a search of the steamer J. D. Peters.

At an early hour this morning Corporal Fields received a telephone message from J. B. Washburn of the Stockton police department, notifying him of the theft of nearly a thousand dollars' worth of property, and giving a description of the three men believed to have been responsible. Included in the booty were thirty watches, 100 razors, a quantity of miscellaneous articles and a dozen suitcases of clothing which had been taken from the hotel.

Detective Maloney and Mitchell, with Fields, waited on Washington street for two hours for the arrival of the vessel. James Brennan and Henry Mitchell, alias Joe Marshall, were caught as they came down the gangplank, but the third suspect, Andrew Anderson, failed to appear. Finally Maloney spotted him and saw him drop into a hatchway. He was caught hiding among some potato sacks in the hold of the boat. The watches, some of the suitcases and the guns were found in possession of the men taken into custody.

The Stockton police were notified and an officer will reach here this afternoon.

FLAG PRESENTED BY THE G. A. R.

Emblem Unfurled Over Headquarters of Oakland Veterans.

With a formal patriotic ceremony, a new flag was presented to Lincoln Hall Association of this city by Appomattox Post of the Grand Army and the Ladies' Relief Corps, yesterday morning, when Mrs. Sadie Stiles Thompson, president of the Relief Corps, presented the flag to the association.

The exercises were presided over by Mrs. Carrie M. Brinkerhoff, patriotic instructor of Appomattox Women's Relief Corps. Talks were given by Captain W. R. Thomas, former commander of Appomattox Post and now department commander of the department of California and Nevada; R. G. O'Brien, assistant adjutant general; Joseph R. Lawrence, department patriotic instructor; and Mrs. Carrie I. Hoyt, special national press correspondent. Also department press correspondent. Patriotic instructor Lawrence dedicated the flag.

The program included: Dialogue on the American flag, by Mrs. C. Young and Miss Evelyn Kline; the presentation of a carved plaque to Appomattox Post by Mrs. May Irene Foster, department patriotic instructor of the Daughters of Veterans; song, George Gelder, Assemblyman-elect from Berkeley; selection by the Appomattox Boys' choir and a patriotic address by Gelder.

MORE PAUPERS IN ENGLAND, IS TOLD

Able Bodied Men Seek Relief; Employers Seek Workers.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—English people for weeks have been invited to rejoice at their booming trade and great prosperity. They have been constantly told that 1912 has been a year of unparalleled prosperity, but the Times selected Boxing day, the day after Christmas, to print a complete page dealing with the condition of London's poor and showing the increase in pauperism, which, as the paper confesses in an editorial, is "dismal reading."

The figures show that the poor law guardians on December 14 were providing for 110,232 persons, representing a ratio of 24.4 per 1,000 of the population. The Times attributes a great part of the increase of paupers to labor disputes. In addition, adds the Times, the distress in London is growing, rather than abating, as the result of the high cost of living, while employers are advertising in vain for labor. In November 545 men received such relief in London, and 100 in the rest of England.

WANTS LEGISLATION TO COMPUTE RATES

Postmaster General Urges the System to Aid in Parcels Post Workings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—An appeal for legislation to modify the method of computing payments to railroads for transporting parcels is made by Postmaster General Hitchcock in a letter to the house committee on postoffices and postroads. "On account of the institution of the parcel post system," wrote Mr. Hitchcock, "the weight of mail to be transported by railroads probably will be increased considerably, and under existing law, no additional compensation may be paid until there has been a weighing of the mails and a readjustment of the basis of pay."

Mr. Hitchcock's proposition, which he suggested a year ago, provides for a complete readjustment of the system of paying railroads for carrying parcels, substituting space for weight as the chief factor in determining the compensation. Under this plan it would be possible to transport without delay what has heretofore been delayed on account of the weight of the parcels.

Tonight, if completed, will and should, be a complete success. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets and you will feel right tomorrow. For sale by all dealers.

LOCAL JUDAENS COMPLETE PLANS FOR GRAND BALL

M. ZEHER.

All preparations have been completed for the Judaens' grand ball to be held on Sunday evening, January 5, at the Hotel Oakland. Demands are great for invitations owing to the popularity of the affair.

The Judaens have announced that the supposed bids sent out were mere announcements and those friends who have not received one are requested to be present.

The arrangements committee exhausted the supply of announcements early, greatly underestimating the popularity of the occasion. Both sides of the bay will be represented on the occasion. The affair is given for the benefit of the permanent building fund.

The committee of arrangements consists of the following: Adolph Fox, chairman; M. Grodin, M. Zeher, L. S. Smook and M. Hellman.

'DARE-DEVIL' SHAIN CRUSHED TO DEATH

Auto-Speeder Loses Control of Machine; Many in Crowd Hurt.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—An inquest will be held tomorrow over "Dare Devil" Shain, the automobile racer who was killed yesterday at Venice, when he lost control of his automobile in the bowl-shaped race track on which he had thrilled hundreds several times daily for months. The three persons who were seriously injured when Shain's racing machine shot over the top of the bowl and plunged into the crowd, were believed to be of danger.

Shain was fatally injured, three others seriously hurt and a score cut and bruised, when Shain's racer shot out of the cup-shaped track known as the "daredevil race for life," on the concession pier at Venice yesterday afternoon, and plunged into the crowd. Shain died a half hour after doctors sought to save his life by an operation.

The seriously injured are: Atkinson, Mrs. A. B. 48, tourist, from Vancouver, B. C.; fractured lower jaw and incisor; J. M. 32, Los Angeles, abdominal injuries; Johnson, M. W. J. 55, tourist, from Madison, Wis.; left hand fractured and minor injuries.

DARED DEATH DAILY.

Since early in the summer, Shain has been one of the chief attractions at Venice, owing to the small size of the track on which he rode and the terrific speed at which he traveled. The cup is 7 feet in diameter at the top, and it requires a speed of 55 miles an hour to keep an automobile on the almost perpendicular track. A thin red line a foot below the top serves as the "dead line" for the driver.

In some manner, Shain lost control of the machine, and it went over the "dead line," and after splintering several railing posts, dropped to the bottom of the cup. In another fraction of a second, the car shot to the top again and plunged through the railing and into the spectators. After making half the circuit of the track through the crowd, the automobile fell back over the steep side of the track to the bottom, with Shain underneath.

The plunge of the wild car through the crowd of several hundred persons massed around the track caused a panic and several were injured in the stampede to a place of safety.

When taken to a hospital at Santa Monica, Shain is said to have told the doctors that he did not care whether he lived or died. Although known to Pacific Coast racing circles as "Hal" Shain, his given name was Halver. He was 35 years old, and his wife and young son live at Santa Cruz.

SUGGESTS "BRIGHT" NEW YEAR IDEA

EDITOR TRIBUNE: An Oakland newspaper recently invited suggestions for a sane and "different" New Year eve. I recommend the lighting of Japanese lanterns to be carried by all pedestrians after 10 o'clock that night, also that vehicles be decorated with them. A bright new year will thus be ushered in. Lanterns should be sold very cheaply as many streets should be used by all people. Yours for a bright 1913, J. P. D. Los Angeles, Dec. 27, 1912.

DEPUTY WHO SHOT ESCAPE FACES COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Henry Borokoff, the deputy sheriff who on Sunday morning shot and killed James Alton, an escaped prisoner from the county jail, appeared in Police Judge Scherell's court today to answer to a charge of murder. Owing to the fact that the coroner's inquest has not been held, the court will not pass upon the charge until next Thursday.

TEXTBOOK PROBE COMES TO AN END

Questioning of State Superintendent Concludes Examination.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30.—With the examination today of Edward Hyatt, state superintendent of public instruction, the special senate textbook investigating committee concluded its session. The state superintendent was asked to outline his ideas with reference to the reorganization of the board of education and questioned concerning the adoption of the Silver-Burdett language book and the McCloy and Jones arithmetic, in which irregularities were charged by other witnesses who testified before the committee.

Superintendent Hyatt declared that the usual procedure in the adoption of the arithmetic was observed by the board except that the vote to adopt the book was not taken until almost two years after the various books presented for approval had been studied.

The reason for the delay, Hyatt asserted, was that when the board was about ready to adopt the McCloy and Jones arithmetic, the state superintendent had in stock enough arithmetics to supply the demand for two years.

Hyatt agreed with the suggestions of Doctor Lange of the university and President W. A. Chalmers of the Normal school with reference to the appointment of a lay board by the governor, which in turn would appoint a board of experts. He declared, however, that it would be necessary to draw a sharp distinction between the duties of the experts and the state superintendent, and declared the superintendent should be named as an ex-officio member of the tax board and as secretary of the board of experts. He continued that the superintendent was the direct choice of the people to superintend the school system.

W. A. Langdon, attorney for the Teachers' Association, addressed the committee and suggested that a finding showing all relations existing between the teachers and the book companies would cast discredit on the teachers of the state. He declared that no evidence has been adduced to indicate any irregularities and that it would be unjust if the committee in its report took notice of this assumed condition. Langdon was informed that the committee would render its report based upon the evidence submitted, but that it could not bind itself to acquiesce in the proposed action of the committee.

Chairman Strobridge announced at the conclusion of the hearing that the committee would have its report ready shortly after the legislature convenes. The committee plans to confer with the governor before announcing any definite plan for reorganization.

TWIN ROMANCES IN TORPEDO FLEET

Torpedo Boat Officers Take Hearts of Two Chums by Storm.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—A warfare of love, the bombardment of the citadels of two hearts and the complete capitulation of the besieged to the United States Navy is told in a twin romance which came to light yesterday with the arrival at the Alexandria Hotel of Ensign and Mrs. W. L. Lind. The same "romance" entwines the hearts and lives of Lieutenant and Mrs. Jose Barrett Oldendorf.

Mrs. Lind, who was Miss Hazel Babey, and Mrs. Oldendorf, who was Miss Amelle Carolyn Bull, are chums and as long enough alike to be twins. Lind and Oldendorf were classmates at Annapolis and are in the same torpedo flotilla. Lind on the destroyer Stewart and Oldendorf on the Torpedo Boat No. 10.

Both courtships were record-breakers for speed and both marriages were secret—that is, nobody knew anything about them. The Linds were married at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco last Thursday. It was witnessed only by Mrs. Lillian Esley, the mother, and one lone guest.

The Oldendorfs were married with even greater secrecy on December 7, and immediately left for Vallejo, where the fleet is cruising. No other marriage was to have taken place until spring and their announcements will cause a Frank Harvey of every Coast city where the young women are known.

The women were of the temperamental variety, for a naval man has but little time for love-making and has to make every instant count. Ensign Lind met Miss Babey when she and her mother arrived here from New York last October. He had a flourish of thirty-six hours before it was a "fait accompli."

The bride's wedding on designing her own engagement ring. It is a remarkable creation of platinum and diamond, the only one of the sort in the world. Lind was married at the Hotel de Ville in Paris. They were married three weeks later. She is the daughter of Mrs. George N. Brown of Louisville, Ky. and he is the son of a prominent family in San Francisco. The bride's father is a member of the board of directors of the city of San Francisco.

COAST ATTRACTS TRUCK BUILDERS

Three Ton Kelly Very Latest Freight Juggler Here in West.

(By EDMUND CRINNION.) A big brother to the one-ton "Kelly" motor truck, which created a considerable amount of talk on its arrival a few weeks ago, reached the salesrooms of Frank G. Miller last week. Miller is Western manager for the Kelly Springfield Company, and his new demonstrator is a three-ton, weight carrier, with which he anticipates a good business in California. It arrived from the East last week and already has been the center of much attention at Miller's San Francisco salesrooms.

The big truck is known as the K-40, and the company has announced deliveries to begin in January. It is the regular water-cooled Kelly design, with a motor which develops 38½ horse power, sufficient, the company declares, to haul any load the truck will carry over any grade.

In the K-40 the design is the same as in the one-ton truck, the chief difference being one of the main objects of the designers. The engineers argue that a rigid frame for a machine, which is to haul heavy loads over uneven surfaces, only pays the effort, has been made, to make the Kelly capable of taking the sway of the road with out undue strain upon any one part. To do this the frame is built of pressed steel with only three cross-members at the bottom of the frame which connect the side rails are called. One of these is located in front, one in the rear and the third about midway of the frame, giving the truck an ease of motion calculated to make the Kelly capable of taking the sway of the road with out undue strain upon any one part. The same idea has been followed in placing the driving mechanism and also in the three-point suspension of the motor.

For the motor itself, the company claims that it is as nearly fool-proof as a gasoline motor can be made. It is equipped with the same sealed governor first put on the market with the one-ton trucks, and which has proven itself a great success, according to the company's engineers. The cylinders are of a little different construction in the K-40 from those in the smaller truck, but the same ratio of overload is guaranteed by the builders.

WAYMAN A CHALMERS BOOSTER.

A fair sample of consistency in the way a great many buyers purchase automobiles is shown in the recent purchase by Guy T. Wayman, the prominent real estate dealer of San Francisco. This is the fourth Chalmers car owned by Wayman, his first purchase being one of the small Chalmers "30's," his second and third purchases being the larger models of the Chalmers line, and his latest purchase being one of the newest models, 5-passenger, six-cylinder Chalmers.

KISSEL KAR ECONOMICAL.

A Kissel Kar three-ton truck in the service of the Grand Rapids Refrigerator Co. of Grand Rapids, Michigan, has been covering daily distances of 50 miles since it was placed in commission on May 1, 1912. During this period there have been no repairs or replacements of any kind, the expense of maintenance being wholly confined to fuel and tires. Manager Frank Harvey of the refrigerator company considers this record remarkable.

BURGLAR'S REWARD JUST THREE CENTS

Tries in Vain to Effect Entrance Into Safe of Coal Store Office.

Persistent efforts on the part of a burglar who broke into the office of the coal store of John Dyer, 2324 San Pablo avenue, were rewarded by the discovery of three copper cents in the cash till of the place. The burglar was forced to climb a fence, obtain chisel, hammer and monkey wrench to force an entrance to the store.

Then he hammered off the knob of the combination to the safe but was unable to force the door. He broke open the cash till on the counter and found the cent pieces. Disgusted with the poor reward of his labors the thief committed several acts of vandalism about the place and made his escape.

CONTRACTOR HURT.
A Chisholm, cement contractor of 835 Thirtieth avenue, received severe lacerations of the scalp last evening when his horse ran away and overturned the buggy, throwing Chisholm to the street at Eleventh and the Foothill boulevard.

HEAVY SENTENCES METED OUT TO UNION HEADS FOR PARTICIPATION IN DYNAMITE CONSPIRACY

Frank M. Ryan Gets Seven Years in Federal Prison; Tveitmo and Clancy Awarded Six Each

well as the evidence introduced and said:

"This scheme or campaign of dynamite was entered into and carried on throughout the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"The evidence disclosed an appalling list of crimes in addition to those charged in the indictments. These crimes were all committed in the name of organized labor. I will not believe that organized labor approved of such practices.

"Any organization that approves or adopts methods of these defendants is an outlaw and will meet the fate which outlaws have met since civilized society began."

"The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder, but they are not charged here with that crime; this court cannot punish them for it, nor should it be influenced by such consideration in fixing the measure of punishment for the crimes charged.

CERTAINTY OF PUNISHMENT.

"The certainty of punishment, not its severity, is the important consideration in the administration of criminal justice. Such punishment should be meted out as shall warn others that even if they desire to accept lawful ends they must not violate the law in the attempt to realize them."

"Keeping these considerations in view the court must repress that indignation which every law-abiding citizen naturally feels at the crimes which the evidence in this case discloses. In addition to those for which the defendants have been found guilty and as near as may be possible confine the punishment within its proper scope."

Referring to the iron workers' strike, which began in 1905, and which the government charged was the motive which prompted John J. McNamara to use dynamite as a weapon, Judge Anderson said the strike was attended by picketing, then by suggesting riots.

CAMPAIGN BY DYNAMITE.

He added: "But in 1906 a campaign by dynamite was inaugurated and beginning with explosions in the East and extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, continued until the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal in April, 1911."

"The evidence in this case shows that almost one hundred explosions, damaging and destroying structures in process of erection, and machinery of, open shop concerns took place, culminating on October 1, 1910, in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building and the murder of 21 people."

"Every one of these explosions was upon the work of open shop concerns and no explosion is shown to have taken place upon any closed shop job. Since the arrest of the McNamaras and McManigal these explosions have ceased."

"This system of destruction was not carried on for revenge or obedience to any other human passion but for the deliberate purpose, by a veritable reign of terror, to enforce compliance with the demands of the iron workers upon the open and closed shop question.

CHARGE GRAVER CRIMES.

Tveitmo and Clancy of San Francisco and Munsey of Salt Lake City were repeatedly charged by the district attorney during the trial with having committed graver crimes than those upon which they were being tried.

Tveitmo, the man who paid the dynamiters for the work on the Pacific coast, who asked for more explosions, even after the 21 persons were killed, ought not to be here on trial for dynamiting. He ought to be out there on the coast on trial for murder," was one of District Attorney Miller's statements in the court record.

"So ought Clancy and so ought Munsey, the man who for two weeks harbored James B. McNamara in Salt Lake City. These men ought to be in San Quentin prison in California along with the McNamaras right now."

At the federal building, where the prisoners were permitted to eat out of lunch buckets with their wives, it was said by United States Marshal Schmidt that the men would be taken back to the county jail temporarily, to be put in readiness for their transportation to Leavenworth. The route of the train and the time of its departure from Indianapolis are to be kept secret.

BROUGHT TO COURT.

Shortly before the hour for reconvening court the prisoners in the dynamite cases were taken from their cells in the county jail, each handcuffed between deputy marshals, and after being lined up in the jail yard were carried in wagons, four prisoners at a time to the federal building five blocks away.

At the federal building few people greeted the men. In the courtroom the prisoners were seated in three rows of chairs, according to the alphabetical arrangement of their names.

Herman G. Seifert, Milwaukee, and Daniel Buckley, Davenport, Ia., the only two of the forty men on trial who were found not guilty, came into court as spectators and endeavored to cheer the prisoners.

Back in the last row Olaf A. Tveitmo, who was directly accused of aiding in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, was handed a large stack of papers by United States Marshal Schmidt. The prisoner who had gone through the three months' trial preoccupied in a book of poetry, or notes of the proceedings, now glanced hurriedly through the mail, then laying it on the floor began to rock back and forth in his chair.

The special train which is to carry the prisoners to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., it is understood, will leave the first night following the sentencing of the last prisoner.

MOTIONS OVERRULED.

All motions for new trials for the twenty-eight labor union officials convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases were overruled today by Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson. Motions for arrests of judgment in behalf of all the men also were overruled. As soon as court convened a few minutes after 10 o'clock District Attorney Miller rose from his seat.

"If the court please, the government asks for judgments on the verdicts," he said.

Chester H. Krum, counsel for the prisoners, then addressed the court.

"We ask in behalf of all the thirty-eight men found guilty that the verdicts be set aside."

"That motion will be overruled," said the court.

The motions for arrest of judgments were likewise disposed of.

Turning to the prisoners Judge Anderson said:

"It has been more difficult than was expected to arrive at the degree of guilt in each of your cases. Have any of you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced against you?"

SILENCE IS ANSWER.

Silence greeted this question until Patrick F. Farrell stepped before the judge.

"Your honor," said Farrell, "I have something to say in my behalf."

"Some things might have been said in your behalf that were not said," interrupted the court. "Is it a fact that you were not in sympathy with the dynamiting campaign?"

"That is a fact, your honor," responded Farrell. "In 1907 I voted against a resolution to continue the strike of the iron workers. I never have been in sympathy with dynamiting."

"Farrell's action in trying to keep certain officials in the iron workers' union might be construed two ways," said District Attorney Miller.

"Then we will take the innocent way," said Judge Anderson. "Had been on the bench ten years and have never sentenced a man I believed innocent."

CHANCE FOR FARRELL.

"This man Farrell is one of the least guilty of them all, and had he had proper legal advice he might have been found not guilty," said Miller. Farrell is from New York and was once an executive board member of the iron workers' union. He was told to resume his seat.

James Cooney, Chicago, next appeared before the court. Cooney was questioned as to whether he had had any letters about dynamite plots. He said he never had and Miller said no letters of Cooney's had been introduced before the jury and there were none of importance.

"Why should I, McManigal testify falsely against you?" asked the court.

"I don't know why he should," answered Cooney.

"Do you believe that organized labor has the right to resort to violence in its strikes?" asked the court.

"I do not," said Cooney.

CORROBORATE McMANIGAL.

Asked whether there was any evidence against Cooney, other than McManigal's testimony, Miller said three witnesses corroborated McManigal's testimony.

McManigal's testimony was that as a hired dynamiter he met Cooney in a saloon in Chicago with President Ryan of the iron workers' union and that they all referred to dynamiting non-union jobs.

James Coughlin, a former iron workers' business agent in Chicago, was next called. While Coughlin was walking forward Judge Anderson said:

"I learn that one of these defendants told an officer of the court that if all the iron workers who had knowledge of dynamiting were caught the jails of the country would be filled. The evidence has been bad enough, but this report may not be convincing. As to Cooney, I have not reached a decision yet."

Coughlin was asked about his connection with the union. The district attorney interrupted, saying the evidence was enough to justify the verdict.

CAMPAIGN NOT RIGHT.

"Do you think the dynamiting campaign carried on for six years was right?" asked Judge Anderson.

"No, your honor, I do not," said Coughlin.

Coughlin told the court he was married and had two children. He said he never had been arrested before.

Just before Frank Murphy, Detroit, was called, Judge Anderson announced his purpose in questioning the men.

"I am doing so because I do not believe you have had the defense you ought to have had," said the judge. "That's why I am questioning you. You don't have to answer any questions. If you feel the answers will prejudice your case."

"Do you believe a man ought to be sentenced if he is found guilty?"

"Yes, I do,"

District Attorney Miller said: "I believe Murphy is guilty, but not so guilty as some of the others."

Hiram R. Kline, Muncie, Ind., a former organizer for the carpenters' union, was called. Besides Tveitmo he is the only prisoner not connected with the judge's bench. Kline exhibited a $100 bill he was accused of paying to Charles Wachmeister, asserting the money had nothing to do with any proposed explosions.

SORRY FOR BERNHARDT.

When William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati, was called, Judge Anderson said:

"Bernhardt, I feel sorry for you, but it is too late to explain now. The letters you wrote were bad."

"I hope God may strike me dead," Bernhardt attempted to continue.

"Now, don't talk that way," said the court. "You know you are guilty. Sit down."

Bernhardt's little boy and his wife both cried as he sat down.

Attorney M. C. Tift, counsel for Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis, held a long conference with Judge Anderson over the judge's bench. Beum was one of the executive board members accused of appropriating $1000 a month to McNamara for dynamite purposes.

GOMPERS STANDS BY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is quoted today as saying he will do everything in his power to stand by the International Association of Structural Bridge and Iron Workers, many of whose members appeared for sentence at Indianapolis today in the dynamite conspiracy cases.

"I hope the verdict will be proven to be unjust," said Gompers, "but whether just or unjust, the bridge and iron workers' organization will be continued as an efficient union. These trades are controlled by tremendous masses of corporate wealth. The condition of the workers if there was no cohesion, no unity, no union, would be fatal to the community. I shall do everything in my power to stand by the men and to strengthen their organization."

INDICTMENTS TO STAND.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 30.—Three federal grand jury indictments, charging Olaf A. Tveitmo and E. A. Clancy of San Francisco and J. B. Munsey of Salt Lake City with having conspired to transport explosives illegally, which were returned in Los Angeles a year ago, will not be dismissed despite the sentences upon the men in Indianapolis. United States district attorney for Southern California.

The cases of these three and that of Antonio Johansen, a labor leader of San Francisco, indicted with them in Los Angeles, will come up in the federal court here January 12 when legal disposition of the cases will be made. Johansen will be placed on trial, according to officials.

COST OF SCHOOL BOOKS REDUCED 42 PER CENT

State Printer Richardson Makes Another Cut in Manufacturing Expense

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30.—When in June of this year the State Board of Education, on the recommendation of State Printer Friend W. Richardson, reduced the manufacturing cost of state school books 27 per cent, it was thought that bedrock had been reached. It seems that this was not the case, for during the last two months Richardson has been able to cut the former cost 42 per cent.

The following table shows the name of book, new manufacturing cost under Shannon's administration and percentage of reduction:

J. K. RITTER RE-ELECTED HEAD OF PATRIARCHS MILITANT

GENERAL J. K. RITTER, RE-ELECTED DEPARTMENT COMMANDER PATRIARCHS MILITANT OF THE INDEPENDENT ORDER ODD FELLOWS.

General J. K. Ritter, Oakland's most widely known fraternalist, has been re-elected to the head of the Patriarchs Militant, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of California. This will be General Ritter's second three-year term in that office and this is the first time that a Californian has been honored by re-election. The balloting has been going on through the month of December, and the full returns announcing the honor conferred on General Ritter were received this morning from the meeting on Saturday night of the last canton to vote in the thirty-two cantons in this state.

KEEP FOOD IN A HYGIENIC STATE

This is Only Method of Preventing Ptomaine Poisoning, Says Correspondent.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: An article in your November 26, 1912, issue gives an account of Walter Barber being afflicted with ptomaine poisoning.

I believe no better work can be done by the press than to warn the public of the danger existing from partaking of foods not properly preserved, and the necessity of utilizing canned goods as soon as possible after opening the can. Scientific experiments have determined time and time again that numerous articles of food when not kept in a hygienic condition, readily deteriorate so as to become poisonous substances.

The formation of ptomaine generally, although not always, accompanies putrefaction, therefore fresh food should be taken that meat, fish, fowl, oysters, canned goods, etc., are eaten only when they are in good condition. It is not economy to partake of food when putrefaction has commenced.

Food can be kept in a hygienic condition either by heat or refrigeration by the exclusion of air, or by the application of substances which, on account of their antiseptic properties, prevent the growth of poisonous germs.

Statistics show that since the enactment of the pure food law there have been 34,341 cases of ptomaine poisoning, 1,892 of which were fatal. It is certainly distressing to think of this vast number of persons becoming ill and of so many innocent lives lost merely because food products are not preserved so as to keep them in a hygienic condition until consumed. Such distressing conditions will continue to prevail as long as consumers do not heed the warning of the danger existing in consuming foods not kept in a hygienic condition.

Yours very truly,

Oakland, Dec. 30, 1912.

RESCUE CREW OF FOUNDERED BOAT

French Line Steamer Brings Shipwrecked Men to Port.

HAVRE, Dec. 30.—The French line steamer Guadalupe brought into port last night the captain and crew of the French schooner Marie Eugénie, rescued during a gale in the channel.

The deck of the schooner was swept by tremendous seas and the cargo salted. The masts were cut away and the ship was tossed about for many hours, making vain signals of distress. Three steamers passed without being able to give help.

The Guadalupe had to be in answer to the signals, and as the weather had moderated slightly, a boat was sent, which took off the men just before the vessel foundered.

STAR OF BETHLEHEM AT THE PANTAGES

High-Class Motion Pictures is Feature of Vaudeville Program.

One curtain separates "The Two Thieves" with music as the main ingredient, and "The Star of Bethlehem," motion pictures, at the Pantages. Such is the elasticity of variety entertainment. The scriptural story is an elaborate Thannhauser production, special orchestral music accompanying its presentation. The numbers are: Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, Largo (Handel), "The Lost Chord" (Sullivan), "The Fairs" (Faure), Solianna from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni).

After the nonsense of "The Two Thieves," the Biblical pictures are all the more impressive. Fred C. Ardath is the laugh-producer of the musical mixture, in the role of one of a thieves duo who break out of prison and into society. Their adventures are accountable for the change of the playlet, which is adapted from "Ermine." The eleven "dancing pippins" mentioned on the program prove to be chorus girls, including three sets of sisters. The lively eleven are kept busy changing costumes when they are not in front of the curtain. In addition to the merry-merry crew there is a cast of seven characters. One of these is stately, comely Muriel Arlington, violinist of a preceding set.

Margaret Bird, as Rosie Beam, fits into a newspaper office seeking Virginia Fairfax, who writes "advice to the lovelorn," and who has lured Rosie to the city with the promise to help her obtain a position. Virginia Fairfax, who is a male of the species, has just resigned and left W. Pennington Holder, another man, in his place. This is ample basis for complications, and of the latter there are many during the action of Miss Bird's playlet, "The Editor's Substitute."

Leclair and Sampson, who are only as strong as the weakest of the wires that support them, are here again, in a funny fake strong-man act. Gavin and Platt talk and sing in a gypsyland setting and Fields Brothers dance in eccentric fashion, completing a bill that is creditable as a starter for the new year.

EXPOSITION AMBASSADOR ON WAY TO SAN FRANCISCO

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Marquis de Vega Inclán, royal commissioner of Spain and special ambassador from that country to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday en route to San Francisco to select a site for the Spanish exhibit and ascertain to what extent the Spanish government should go in that direction.

The marquis will recommend the site of the appropriation that his government will be called upon to make for this purpose, and, judging from his unimpaired ideas, the amount will be in excess of $100,000.

The marquis is the art connoisseur and historical expert of Spain.

GULLS REPEL STRANGERS; HAVE CLOSE CORPORATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—According to Sergeant Patrick McGee of the mounted police of Golden Gate Park, there are about 600 sea gulls living near the Cliff House that form a close corporation. While the steamer Harvard was entering the Golden Gate, McGee noticed two gulls leave the boat and make for the shore. The birds flew straight for the home of the Cliff House gulls. The latter were greatly excited as the strangers neared, and before they had reached the shore two from the 500 arose to meet them. After much circling around, the two braves set upon the voyagers and there ensued a fight that ended only when all four birds fell on the shore exhausted and nearly dead.

Each morning, McGee says, the birds divide up into small flocks and each flock takes after a ship, which it pursues throughout the day. The same band takes the same boat throughout the year. The chieftain of the gulls remains on shore, says McGee, while his subjects hunt food.

ELECTED OFFICIAL DIES; CLAIMS PEACE

DENVER, Dec. 30.—The death of Lieutenant Governor-elect Benjamin F. Montgomery in St. Luke's hospital in this city, yesterday creates a vacancy in the incoming administration. Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald believes that he is entitled to continue in office until the next general election. Governor-elect Ammons is inclined to believe Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald's contention is correct.

The fact that Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald withdrew from the gubernatorial primary campaign in favor of Ammons is given by politicians as basis for the opinion that he would be Ammons' choice to fill the vacancy.

SUTRO DROPS INTO BAY IN MACHINE

Young Aviator Has Narrow Escape When Engine Misses Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Dropping from a height of 600 feet into the bay, Joseph Sutro, the young San Francisco aviator and grandson of a former mayor, had an exciting experience yesterday afternoon in his hydroplane. Sutro left his hangar at Harbor View to fly down to the aviation meet at Taftman.

He made a rapid ascent, and was soaring over the bay near the transport dock, at the foot of Van Ness avenue, when the engine of his hydroplane stopped. Crows lining the shore caught their breath as they saw his hydroplane turn sideways and fall toward the bay like a cull with a broken wing.

The machine struck the water in the middle of a fleet of crab fishermen. Thinking he was in for a ducking, Sutro pulled out of his coat, shoes and stockings. The machine remained on the water after striking and on Sutro was able to keep his seat without much inconvenience.

The revenue cutter Harlan, in command of Captain Wilson, rushed to the aid of the aviator. When it steamed alongside of the hydroplane, Sutro had already impressed into service two of the launches of the fishermen, who began towing him toward the transport dock.

The Harlan stood by until Sutro was out of danger.

Sutro did not make a second ascent, but said he would fly again from the exposition site on New Year's.

BISHOP HANNA MAKES APPEARANCE

Presides at Lecture Given by Father Vaughan on Joan of Arc.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The Right Reverend Bishop Hanna made his first public appearance in San Francisco yesterday when he presided at a lecture by Father Vaughan, S. J., in the Knights of Columbus hall in Golden Gate avenue.

The lecture was on Joan of Arc and under the auspices of the Helpers of the Holy Souls and the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society.

The auditorium was filled with people interested in seeing the new bishop and introduced Father Vaughan, who was introduced as a man equally well known in Europe as he is in America and who says he acknowledges no nationality except that of the Catholic church.

Bishop Hanna was introduced by Eugene P. Conlin.

The lecture was in aid of a meeting in aid of God's poor," said Bishop Hanna. "I deeply appreciate the welcome given me. I take it as a good omen that my first public appearance is at a meeting in aid of the poor, which should be our first work."

He said he had come to represent the venerable head of the church, Archbishop Riordan.

Father Vaughan said this is an age of democracy and that politics is crowding out religion and patriotism. The latter, he said, are on the snow line, whereas the former is often in the mud.

He spoke of the soldier maid and how she won from Henry V. of England all the possessions he held in France.

The following were natives: Mesdames H. H. Allege, M. J. Smith, C. W. Miller, M. Carroll, P. J. Moore, J. C. O'Connor, T. W. McGee, W. Coane, Golden, P. Curtis, M. O'Dwyer, W. Mellou, W. YOUNG BANDITS CONFESS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 30.—The confessions of Harry Dean, 16 years old, and his brother, 13, are believed to furnish the solution of many mysterious robberies that have been committed in this section during the last few weeks. The boys declared they were instructed to steal by John Dean, their father, and Robert Starford. Following the robbery of a grocery bloodhounds followed a trail to the Dean home and the boys were arrested.

The Real George Washington.

Mayor Gaynor has given offense to some people by telling the plain truth about George Washington. He holds Washington in high esteem—considers him a great and good man, in fact—but says he was very human, sometimes flew into a passion and occasionally swore great oaths.

All of which is true. We have been so accustomed to view the Father of His Country through the spectacles of old Parson Weems that we hardly realize that Washington was a real man of flesh and blood. Washington dearly loved a horse race; he sometimes raced his own horses and occasionally bet small sums on them. He attended cock-fights on rare occasions, and it is of record that he once had a fist-fight over a local election and got his eye blacked.

But in an age given greatly to drinking he never drank to excess. He was a man of great personal dignity and rare judgment. Even as a boy he impressed all who knew him with his manly quality and with his entire trustworthiness. His schooling was limited, but he was one of the men who absorbed knowledge from others. His habit of observation was strong and his power to assimilate information was marked. From his boyhood he was a leader in the circle in which he moved. His power of self-command, coupled with lofty impulses and clear judgment, gave him an influence which he never lost.

When only sixteen Lord Fairfax employed him to survey his vast landed estate, a signal proof of capacity. At the age of twenty-two he was commissioned a major of his majesty's yeomanry in Virginia, a high honor for so young a man. Dinwiddie, the royal governor of Virginia, trusted him and relied upon him. Wherever he was placed he acquitted himself with dignity and honor and bore himself as a man of courage and fortitude should.

Yet the immortal George could get fiercely angry on occasion, and when he did he was very terrible. Swearing was a universal habit in his day, but he only swore when he lost his temper, which was rare. The wonder is that he did not swear oftener and kept his temper so well.

But his life was so uniformly clean, his manner so dignified and self-contained, and his habitual demeanor so calm and imperturbable that it seemed strange to hear him swear and see him in a passion. Nevertheless, he had human weaknesses and failings and sometimes revealed them. He was not a god, but a man of superior moral excellence gifted with precisely the qualities which enabled him to be of incalculable service to his country in the hour of her greatest need.

The footpad who held up a woman in Oakland Thursday night laid in wait behind a billboard. An unsightly street obstruction was thus made a vehicle for crime. Billboards are nuisances ordinarily, but when they become hiding places for robbers they assume the aspect of menaces to the citizen. The advertising fence lends itself readily to the operations of burglars and footpads, and should therefore be regulated. Besides it disfigures the town and is an eyesore generally.

Begging Letter Writers.

The daughter of the late Lucky Baldwin, who has just come into an inheritance of $10,000,000, is overwhelmed with appeals for aid by people she does not know and has never seen. She is asked to contribute to all sorts of alleged benevolent enterprises, and for money by persons claiming to be in distress. She cannot understand why such a multitude of requests should come to her. She has not studied human nature nor exchanged experiences with other people who have been advertised in the press as persons of large wealth. All such persons are the objects of ceaseless attack and importunity at the hands of beggars, swindlers, fake charity promoters. All such regard persons who have come into large fortunes as fair game, and the ingenious schemes they concoct to get some of the money are numberless as the sands on the seashore.

Cranks, as well as swindlers, single out people who have too lately come into wealth to be sophisticated for attack, just as moths are attracted by a candle. It is quite natural and just, in their opinion, that possessors of large wealth should give them something or finance their queer undertakings. They argue themselves into a belief that those who have should divide with those who have not, and they are not restrained by reason or modesty from stating their necessities and demands. They put everybody to the "touch" without taking the trouble to reason out that no fortune no matter how swollen is large enough to permit its owner to give to all who ask.

There is much real distress in the world, but begging letter writers as a rule are wholly undeserving. They are persons who prefer to live by their wits rather than honest industry, and exhaust ingenuity which might be better and more profitably employed in legitimate endeavor in trying to get something for nothing. But the marvelous thing about it all is the confidence the begging letter writers have in the credulity and kindness of heart of those they address with appeals which run the gamut from the movingly pathetic to the wildly absurd.

Put an End to This Abuse.

A salutary and much needed reform can be accomplished by the Legislature by passing an act forbidding any member of the Legislature from holding any county or municipal office during the term of his service as Assemblyman or State Senator; and forbidding, likewise, Senators and Assemblymen from accepting employment of emolument under the State government.

It is the practice to parcel out the attorneyship for the various State commissions among the hold-over Senators. The loyalty of other members of the Legislature is insured by giving them places on the San Francisco waterfront. We do not know how many legislators the State Harbor Commission has in its employ at present, but in the past from six to ten were to be found holding soft jobs on the waterfront.

Giving a legislator an easy job that pays well or a fat attorneyship is equivalent to retaining him to vote as the appointing power directs. He and his job part company the moment he ranges himself against administration bills in the Legislature.

As the law now stands it is possible for the Governor of the State to create a Pretorian Guard in the Legislature by giving jobs or promising jobs to Senators and Assemblymen. This possibility has been shamefully utilized till it has become a chronic abuse. It should be abated, and the Legislature can enact no worthier legislation than passing a bill forbidding this prostitution of patronage.

Making a City Fit to Live In.

At a recent civic congress it was said of Newton D. Baker, Mayor of Cleveland, that he was not so much concerned whether his city would have a million inhabitants by 1912 as he was with making it a city fit for a million people to live in.

It was a fine ascription. Mere numbers do not signify prosperity and do not make for human happiness unless the social conditions are created that will conserve the lives and energies of people in them and enable life to be enjoyed within practicable limits. To make a city clean, healthy and beautiful is vastly more important than to make it populous. Moreover, a clean, healthy, beautiful city, well-governed and well-ordered, will attract population of the better class. It will be a magnet drawing to itself people of cultivation and enterprise, animated by the true progressive spirit. Like begets like, and the progressive spirit inspires emulation.

Physical adornment brings population, and population drawn together under conditions inviting permanent residence brings capital and enterprise. Substantance must be gained and energies employed. Therefore the policy Mayor Baker personifies is one that encourages and promotes the growth of commerce and manufacturing. The culture it indicates finds expression in the aesthetic arts, in letters and academic research. Civic adornment prompts and develops the artistic taste of a community, inspires an enlightened and liberal public spirit which is at once humane and beneficent.

When the people of a city reach the stage of civic development that they are ashamed to permit a slum to exist in their midst and feel that dirt, degradation, squalor and wretchedness are individual reproaches they are prepared to create ideal conditions for human existence. So far as collective action can accomplish the result, the moral and physical blot will be wiped out, and the community cleansed and ennobled. It will be fit for any number to live in. It will appeal alike to the spirit and the senses, and stimulate the utilitarian endeavors upon which the city must thrive and grow great.

Let us strive to make Oakland a city fit for a million people to dwell in—a city beautiful, clean and healthy—a city where enterprise is governed by an enlightened and philanthropic public spirit—a city where the love of the beautiful and the civic virtues are cultivated—a city where the public welfare is a compelling consideration with all the inhabitants. Then Oakland will be really a great city; the million inhabitants will come, and as it grows and prospers and becomes richer in spirit, it will be a city in which human aspiration can find its highest realization. It will be the home of the arts and sciences and domestic virtues, the supreme development of civic life. Let us dedicate ourselves to the task of making it so.

MAKING TRICK FILMS

A trick picture is usually the combined efforts of the comic plot writer and the expert cinematograph operator. We often see, for instance, omnibuses traveling at a speed of 100 miles an hour, flowers that jump from the table and arrange themselves in a vase, or a man diving with the greatest ease head first out of the river and landing on his feet on the bank.

In order to discover these secrets permission was obtained to join a picture company when engaged in the production of a film entitled "The Uncanny Scot." The work commenced outside of a cigar store and each scene was most carefully rehearsed. A youthful actor as an errand boy who was engaged in opening the shop brought from it a dummy Scotman in the act of taking snuff and placed it in position at the shop door. At this point the stage manager, who is conducting the operations, blew a whistle, and instantly the boy remained motionless and the dummy Scotman of the first trick was revealed.

The company understood by the whistle that they were to cease the slightest movement and the photographer that he was to keep the stop button pressed. The dummy of the Scotman was now removed and an actor identically dressed was arranged in precisely the same position. The whistle went again and the boy resumed his work. When next passing the Scotman he received a kick from him, which caused him to bolt into the shop in terror. The whistle now sounded again, and a further substitution of dummy for man was made by the stage hands. An actor to be seen came out of the shop, and the boy explained what had happened, but was dumfounded when the master turned the figure upside down and thus showed it to be lifeless. The scene proceeded with many stops and changes from the live Scotman to the inanimate dummy. Stopping the camera simultaneously with the cessation of all animation insured that the effect of the screen would be perfectly continuous as of course the film would not run through without any break. —Strang Magazine.

Twenty Years Ago Today

In a three-column article this morning the New York World alleges that the "Panama canal corruptionists" expended over $2,000,000 in bribing American legislators.

In order to continue their campaign of terrorism the anarchists are claiming the "credit" for having set off a bomb in the office of the prefecture of police in Paris, which wrecked the building. It is not definitely known whether it was a bomb or an accidental explosion of gas which did the damage.

Lily Langtry, the "Jersey Lily," is reported to be in imminent danger of death from an illness from which she is suffering in London.

The site of the new Lafayette High School is now the scene of great activity. The primary school is being swung around around so as to front on Eleventh street to make room for the high school which is to front on Twelfth.

District Attorney-elect Charles E. Snook will go into office next Monday afternoon. Lin Church and Al Frick will be his two deputies for the present. Justice of the Peace Harry Melvin will not be a deputy as he is to succeed himself as Justice of the Peace in Brooklyn township.

The Populists have decided to hold their convention on the evening of January 3 at Liberty Hall on Broadway.

A number of lawyers of the county are active in endeavoring to have a bill passed giving two more Superior Judges to Alameda county. The active candidates for the places are Judge F. B. Oxden, Geo. W. Langan of Livermore, J. H. Smith of the second ward, Hiram Luttell, A. M. Housenburgh, E. M. Gibson and B. McFadden.

STORIES ABOUT PEOPLE

George Meredith, according to the London Chronicle, "employs that abominable contraction 'alright.' It can't be a printer's error, for it occurs more than once. And he uses it as early as 1863, so that the abusers of our language may now claim Meredith, of all men, as their prophet. This is one of those things that baffle explanation, particularly from a writer whose use of words was meticulous and who always refused to delete the first 'e' in 'judgment,' always spelling it 'judgement' in his novels. Some of us, however, will fight 'alright' to the bitter end."

Serbs have a grievance against the English language for spelling the name of their country Serbia with a "y," as though it came from "servus," a slave. There is really no such connection, and in other languages it is spelled properly, with a "b." —Chicago News.

OPPORTUNITY FOR COLLEGES

A broad field of opportunity for American colleges is opened up in the South American countries, according to a citizen of the United States, who recently returned from a visit to that section of the New World.

He declares that the construction of the Panama canal has aroused the keenest interest in the greatest of American republics among the intelligent citizens of the smaller governmental divisions. Their eyes are turned northward, instead of toward Europe. They desire to know more about the government which has brought this mighty work to successful completion.

"All over South America I have found the people reading the history and literature of the American States," he declared. "There is a desire to see our country and to study in it."

This is a sentiment which cannot be too highly fostered by the educational institutions in this country. It is infinitely more important than the matter of bringing youth from the Orient to the United States to be educated.

The trade of Asia with this country would be a mere bagatelle compared with that of South America, if the proper development took place, both in the relations between the two sections of the New World and the resources of the southern countries themselves. Of this latter proposition, this traveler says:

"Agriculture is in a primitive state in many sections of South America and the scientific study of this important subject is receiving much attention. Were modern methods applied to only a small portion of the vast area adapted to agriculture, the South American countries would astonish the world."

To supply the need for instruction in this line should be a consistent plan of commercial, governmental and educational institutions in the United States. Financially and politically, the results of such close mingling of the two sections would be incalculable.

Nine-tenths of the distrust obtaining in South America concerning this country is the product of ignorance, upon which the designing foreign interests do a big business in that section continually play.

A few hundred scholarships at the various American educational institutions would do more toward uniting the United States with South America in bonds of common understanding than any other one thing that could possibly be undertaken.—Seattle Times.

DRINKS OF CEYLON

Wine made in Ceylon has a curious, enemy, the muskrat. Not an innocent and even edible little beast like our own muskrat, but a creature described as "a fearful plague, and so powerful is its odor that at one time it was thought it would even penetrate glass."

This belief was due to the fact that securely bottled wine, over the bottles of which the rat had passed and on passing perfunctory, was found on opening to be utterly worthless and full of musk. Investigations and experiments, however, showed that instead of penetrating the glass it finds access to the wine through the cork.

The water of Ceylon is none of the best. Near the coast line it is brackish, owing to the sea and the many salt marshes. In the low country where rivers and streams are few and far apart the supply is from artificial tanks, and their tributary streams and outlets are the resort of the deer and cattle and elephants that come to bathe and wallow in them, thereby keeping the water in a muddy state perpetually.

To remedy this condition the Cingalese resort to a rather curious practice. Water for drinking purposes is always put into an unglazed chatty, which before using they thoroughly rub with sand that they call lingal. This is rubbed on the inside of the chatty until about half of the sand is worn away. The muddy water is then poured in the prepared jar and allowed to stand.

At first the water is about the consistency of muck, but this soon disappears and a viscid sediment forms at the bottom of the vessel, the clear water remaining on top. It is now ready for use, and although not of the clearest is sufficiently pure for ordinary use.

Milk is almost a luxury in Ceylon, owing to several causes, among which is the land leech.

It is the thorny fruit plant, with dark orange-colored roots and primrose-like flowers, which has equally wonderful effects on milk and on water, though of a different nature. If pieces of the stem, root and leaves be mixed for a few seconds in milk or water, the liquid turns thick and mucilaginous, so much so that water in this state can be raised by the hand several feet out of a basin and will fall back without noise. This, moreover, is done without imparting any color, taste or smell to the fluid, which returns to its natural state in about 10 or 15 minutes.—Wine and Spirit Circular.

MANIA DE LUXE

The selling of spurious "de luxe" editions of books is on the whole one of the most extraordinary swindles, or perhaps we should say that the mania for buying them and being thus imposed upon is one of the most inexplicable crazes of our day. That is not because of the magnitude of the transactions, but rather because of their intrinsic character and the character of their dupes. It is not difficult to imagine people buying "gold bricks" or "green goods," because of the great pecuniary profit which they expect to derive therefrom; or of their investing in "wildcat" stocks, or other speculative properties, in similar hope of gain. We can also understand extravagant purchases of jewels or works of art, which will make a great show of wealth and splendor. But none of the motives in such cases apply to the purchase of these books.

In a few cases, indeed, the books appear to have been purchased as an investment, in expectation of a speedy rise in value, which of course was not and could not be realized; but in the great majority of cases no such considerations prevailed. Neither were they purchased because of an intelligent love of valuable books and fine editions; for if the buyers had been true bibliophiles they would have realized the spurious and delusive nature of the offerings. The desire for sumptuous display was not paramount, for if it had been some other objects would have been chosen. Books at $1000 a volume make no more show in a library than some at a hundredth part of that price would make; and certainly such a sum invested in jewels or pictures or furniture would produce a far more gaudy and resplendent display than any book in the world.

There remains the conceivable but not praiseworthy explanation that some people imagine that the value of a book is fixed by the price which is paid for it, and that a person's standing as a lover and a patron of literature is determined by the amount of money which he spends for books. Governed by such delusions, one might flatter himself by paying at thousand dollars for a volume he was winning immortality as a modern Maecenas. In that case this mania de luxe must be regarded as one of the most lamentable follies of the time.—New York Tribune.

SEATTLE SHIPPING LAW IS DRASTIC

Vessels Carrying Explosives Subject to Rigid Rules in North.

Considerable interest is being manifested here over the rigid enforcement by Seattle port officials of an ordinance forbidding a vessel carrying explosives to tie up at wharves to work. All vessels carrying powder or other explosives are required to lighter this part of their cargo while working on any wharf, and it is expected that a petition will soon be made to change it.

According to the advice received here during the day, a great majority of Seattle shipping firms are in favor of abolishing the present ordinance of forbidding vessels to dock with explosives aboard and the entire Seattle shipping world is seething under a strenuous discussion of the ordinance and it is expected that a petition will soon be made to change it.

The ordinance does not only affect Seattle shipping firms but a number of local concerns are also much inconvenienced and from present indications all of the large steamship lines on the coast will protest against the ordinance.

It is necessary for all vessels with powder or other dangerous explosives on entering Seattle to first remove all of this cargo from their hatches and load it aboard lighters, for this they may dock and transact their business. They then must reload the explosives aboard again.

EXPENSE IS GREAT.
This, according to the big steamship interests, does not only cause much unnecessary delay but it also results in a great expense being attached to it, costing more to lighter the explosives than to carry the freight. When the ordinance was first made it was probably little was intended of local authorities to install a similar rule in order to protect ships and docks from possible fires.

However, the manner in which the ordinance is being received up north has resulted in the fact that no action along these lines will be taken. According to the shipping men, the ordinance will probably drive much of the shipping to southern ports, especially here.

CREWS ARE NEEDED.
Steamer arrivals received here this morning state that the beachcombers and other waterfront idlers are not having a very enjoyable time in Honolulu. An unusual shortage of men to man vessels has caused the harbor police to issue an order that all idlers must ship or go to jail. If they refuse to obey the edict police will take them to the jail or twenty days in jail to think it over.

According to the report, many of the big sea-going vessels have been forced to remain idle for days at a time waiting for a favorable opportunity to muster a crew. The new rule of the police, however, is having a favorable effect on the trouble is now had in getting a crew to sign.

COMES FOR OVERHAULING.
The schooner Lehua is at the Pacific Steamship company's wharf, where it is being overhauled. With the completion of local work the vessel will go into the coast trading service. The steam schooner Svea is at the same wharf undergoing repairs.

The Alaska Pacific steamer Admiral Sampson came to anchor here yesterday and will early today and shifted across to the San Francisco side to prepare for sea. The vessel sailed early because of the effect of the north wind.

The steamer Hanalet, Captain Hamma, sailed yesterday for the south. The steam schooner Rochelle is at Long wharf discharging lumber.

Departures from the inner harbor during the past 24 hours included the steam schooner Ahern, Charles Nelson and Thomas L. Ward.

The Acme was the only new arrival in the inner harbor. It is discharging at the Hunter Lumber company's yard.

GIRL VICTIM OF SHOOTING MAY NOT LIVE HAD BEEN THREATENED BY LOVER BEFORE

MISS LUELLA ROBERTS, HIGH SCHOOL GIRL, WHO WAS SHOT BY JEALOUS LOVER AT CLOVERDALE.

Cloverdale High School Pupil in Dangerous Condition at Hospital in Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 30.—Seventeen-year-old Luella Roberts, the high school girl who was shot Saturday night by Frank Carlisle, station agent at Cloverdale, because she had refused to elope with him, is in the Mary Jesse hospital here, and Carlisle is in the county jail.

"He threatened to shoot me several times," the girl told District Attorney Lea. "The last time he did so was three weeks ago while I was walking on the street with a boy. He met me and said 'If I had a pistol I would kill you both.'"

Carlisle denies that he ever threatened the girl. He is nervous, but defiant and refuses to discuss the shooting or the motives which led him to fire three bullets into the girl's back as she was returning home from a moving picture show with her mother and two friends.

MAY NOT RECOVER.
The X-ray was used to locate the bullets. One entered under the shoulder blade, one is imbedded in the muscles of the back and the third went under the kidneys. Two of them hit the spine. The surgeons hold out little hope for her recovery.

It is known that Carlisle went in search of the girl Saturday night before he crouched behind a fence near her home and fired upon her. He admits that he was seeking her early in the evening with a loaded pistol.

He joked with the ticket seller of the theater while the girl and her mother and brother and Mrs. Morris Smith were inside. He waited in front of the theater until the show was nearly over and then walked to the Roberts home and hid behind the fence.

He says he came near shooting Owen Smith, the boy who warned the Roberts party on their way from the theater, that there was a drunken man in the vicinity of their home.

ENGAGED TO HALF-SISTER.
Carlisle told Constable William J. Orr and Marshal Fred E. Connor that he nearly shot some of the men who were looking for him in the grove, after he had shot the Roberts girl.

Up to a year ago Carlisle is said to have been engaged to Bertha Adams, a half-sister of Miss Roberts. She died, however, and he turned his attention to Miss Roberts, who rejected his advances.

Mrs. Adams, grandmother of the girl, told City Marshal Connor some weeks ago that she was afraid that Carlisle would shoot her.

While station agent at Geyserville Carlisle was married, but his wife left him and he got a divorce. He has been employed by the Northwestern Pacific for fifteen years and is 35 years old.

While a boarder at the Roberts home he wanted Luella to elope to Ukiah with him, but the girl's mother persuaded her that she was too young and Luella later told Carlisle that she would not marry him.

TRAINS DELAYED BY HEAVY SNOWFALL
SEATTLE, Dec. 30.—At noon today the weather at the summit of the Cascade mountains was reported very cold with not much snow falling. Trains that arrived here last night and this morning over the Great Northern, Milwaukee and Northern Pacific were delayed to twenty-four hours late, but the dispatchers report the situation steadily improving, though schedules are not maintained. The Milwaukee rotary snow plows are reported buried near Boston and a heavy freight locomotive on the same line carried from the track between Lacrosse and Stockdale. Trains between Seattle and Portland are now moving on time.

TEAMSTER'S HACK BROKEN.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Antonio Mancuso, a teamster of 286 Moultrie street, was fatally injured at noon today in an accident at Sixth and Honner streets. A large hay wagon, heavily loaded, turned over on a curve and Mancuso was buried underneath. When he was rescued and taken to the Potrero hospital it was found that his back was broken.

INSURANCE ACT CAUSES TROUBLE
Measure to Become Effective January 15; Physicians Opposed.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The national insurance act will go into operation January 15, but the situation between the government and the medical profession is still chaotic. The decision of the British Medical Association rejecting the final terms offered by the government for service under the act, while it proves a source of embarrassment to the government, is not popular enough in the medical profession to prevent the act from being carried into effect.

Several prominent members of the association immediately resigned as a protest against its action. On the other hand, several of the medical members of the government's advisory committee who resigned at the request of the British Medical Association now have decided to rejoin that committee while all over the country doctors are ignoring the association and are hastening to join the ranks of doctors for administering the insurance act.

There still are very far from enough doctors, however, to meet the requirements of the government, although owing to the strong political feelings involved, which are more for more in the non-therapeutic than the sense of free offered by the government, it is impossible to judge from the conflicting statements issued, exactly how the matter stands.

In some districts, where extreme difficulty has been found in enlisting doctors, the insurance commissioners are advertising for doctors at salaries of from $2500 to $3500 for their whole time in the service. The indications are that the attempt of the profession to boycott the government will not succeed.

SUES TO PREVENT MERGER.
COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30.—Federal Judge Satter rendered a decision today in favor of the government in the suit to prevent the merger of the Lake Shore and Hocking Valley railroads.

SHE LOST HER HAIR.
But she found it again. That is the good part of the story. It cost her a lot of pride to lose it, and just a dollar to find it. You see, the dollar is the price of a bottle of Hall's Hair Renewer. No coloring of the hair. First of all, she talked it over with her doctor. This gave her confidence to go ahead.

ADA REEVE'S WORK SPLENDIDLY DONE

English Star Returns to the Orpheum With New Songs and Dances.

(By LEO LEVY.)
Refinement is first on the list of qualities that are the possession of Ada Reeve, but there's something else that goes to make her thousands of friends. She strives not at all to protect herself and her art over the footlights. Instead, she brings you past the orchestra to her. She doesn't force her beauty into your company, but does invite you into her home. It is the lady-like way of making friends.

Miss Reeve returned, yesterday, after an absence of less than a year. We saw her first when she was a young girl, smiling and singing despite pain that would have kept the rest of us in waiting retirement. The wonder of it will strike you if you'll remember how heavily she scored. Now she's here again, magnificently healthy and, consequently, radiantly artistic.

There is no barrier between Miss Reeve and the audience. Her smile melts that. Simplicity is the very keynote of her work. She never resorts to the stage tricks of which other English singers have a score—affection is one of them.

NOT PARADING TALENT.
Nor does she parade her talent as Lily Lina, for instance, displays her gowws. It is Ada Reeve who works for you—not a professional actress.

Miss Reeve was generous yesterday with her dance and song. Several new numbers are in her repertoire and she gave them all. Your old friends, tuneful "Sue," that swinging hit that deals with the time "when Richard the Third was on the throne," and "Goo-Goo Land" are as delightful as ever.

There's a new one for you this season, a reading set to music, with that subject of subjects, the infinite variety of light that lies in woman's eyes. To hear her tell it is to hear that kind of a thing done better than ever before.

Enthusiasm knows no bounds when it deals with Ada Reeve.

QUALITY IN QUANTITY.
Vaudeville fit for Miss Reeve's company must be quality vaudeville, and they seem to have found it this week at the Orpheum. Chris Richards has been brought from England for the circuit, and proves one of those "finds" rarer than roses in the Arctic. With apologies, we pause to remark that he's the gentleman who put the "trick" in "eccentric."

Richards is a splendid juggler, a nimble dancer, a rapid ball player, an excitable clown and somewhat of a singer. If vaudeville producers have a better eccentric than he, they're keeping him dark. And who ever heard of a theatrical man hiding other people's ability.

Our own United States is well represented on the bill of English and Italian stars by Paul Dickey's "The Come Back." College life at its funniest was never as uproarious as this farcical bit that concerns a certain freshman and what happens to him one evening in the fall. A senior, a quarterback, a graduate, start out to make life miserable for the freshman. A visit to a mythical college widow, a burlesque on a shooting scrape, wherein French's companion simulates fatal wounds, are on the program.

ENTER THE WOMAN.
All goes well until, at a critical moment, the woman factor is introduced. Wisdom has never gained from a score of Whoreprowns the two of them plot revenge and have it.

How "Spin" Williams springs his "comeback" and turns the tables is told in a rip-roaring farce that is more noise than cleverness and good for a good laugh at every performance. The cast includes Dickey as the freshman and four others who do their work well and with a will.

An eccentric violinist, who in a rip-roaring farce that is more noise than cleverness and good for a good laugh at every performance. The cast includes Dickey as the freshman and four others who do their work well and with a will.

OTHER ACTS GOOD.
High Life Trio, effective musicians in a series of the popular classics and Italian folk-songs, are newcomers on the bill. Oscar and Susette, in a graceful lot of polite dancing; Frank and Truman Rice, acrobats, whose act is touched up with originality, and Caesar Rivoli's protean act score heavily.

Successor to Augusten of the Orpheum orchestra, does a splendid musical bit with a piccolo solo. "Old Songs and Memories," a worth-while combination of motion picture and orchestration, has been devised by W. H. Osterfield of the San Francisco Orpheum. It brings to close a bill of almost faultless vaudeville.

RUNS AMUCK WITH PISTOL IN BLIND HOME; ARRESTED
W. A. Plowman, an inmate of the Industrial Home for the Blind Blind, created a disturbance yesterday with a revolver, which he thought was about the place and was finally overpowered by a waitress and taken to the city prison. He was later removed to the emergency hospital.

Mrs. W. E. Orrer and half a dozen women entered protest on the ground that the location was near a school and a danger to the children. The location was given an extension of 30 days on this liquor license at the old location until a new place.

Applications granted by the council today were as follows:
Transfer—M. A. Fitzpatrick, 306 Grove street, W. corner Potrero; saloon.
Successor to Estate of Ed. Fitzpatrick, deceased.
Transfer of location—J. C. Rogers and L. Grandon, 1151 Seventh street, N. E. corner Adelphi; saloon. From them, saloon, 1115 Seventh street, N. E. corner Adelphi.
Baldwin S. Robinson, 1837 Seventh street, saloon. From him, saloon, 1845 Seventh street, N. E. corner Cedar street.

DAMAGE IS DONE BY HEAVY STORM
Oregon Swept by Wind and Rain; Railroad Schedules Demoralized.

Heavy rain and strong winds which occurred in Western Oregon and Washington yesterday appeared today to have done much less damage than at first reported. Trains on lines entering Portland from the North and East were delayed several hours by washouts, the most serious being that on the Northern Pacific tracks between here and Puget Sound.

Centralia, Wash., was seriously damaged by a flood that followed the breaking of China Dutch, filling the cellars in the business district, while practically the entire country between that place and Chehalis is inundated. The Northern Pacific line was further interrupted by a rock slide at Castle Rock, Wash. Not telegraph and telephone wires are down between Portland and Astoria.

South of Portland as far as Melton, Wash., and the occasional telephone wires and knocked down signs, but no damage is reported to the main line. In Portland about 250,000 worth of damage was done.

PROTEST AGAINST LIQUOR LICENSE CASTRO TRAVELS AS 'SEÑOR RUIZ'

Protestants Pack Lobby of City Council to Oppose Granting.

Extensive protest before the city council from residents of the Twenty-third avenue district resulted in M. Henas withdrawing his application for a liquor license for a location at 1148 Twenty-third avenue, when he discovered that a majority of the council was in favor of denying the application. This is the second time Henas has attempted to obtain a new license, as he is forced to remove from 1920 East Fourteenth street.

The lobby of the city council was packed this morning with protesters, led by Ira T. Martin and the Rev. Herbert Haves, pastor of the Centennial Presbyterian church. The protest was signed by 642 residents of the district.

The location asked is at the southeast corner of East Twelfth street and Twenty-third avenue, and children from the school in the neighborhood would be forced to pass its doors. It is also near the California Cotton mill.

ATTORNEY MAKES PLEA.
Attorney Phil Walsh appeared for Henas and explained that many business men in the neighborhood were in favor of the granting of the license. He asked that the matter be continued until the full council could consider it.

Mayor Frank R. Moss stated that the neighborhood was obviously opposed to the saloon, and Commissioner P. C. Turner and John Forrest expressed themselves as favoring the side of the protesters. Henas then asked permission to withdraw his application and this was granted by the council.

OCEAN-GOING TUG IS DRIVEN ON SAND-BAR
SEA ISLE CITY, N. J., Dec. 30.—A big ocean-going tugboat, believed to be the Margaret, which left New York yesterday with three barges in tow, was driven on a sandbar ten miles south of here in a heavy storm today. The body of one man has been washed ashore.

The crew of the tug were from the Tatham station put out to the assistance of the distressed boat, but their craft was upset by a heavy sea and they swam ashore.

PRESIDENT TO RESIGN OFFICE

Manuel de Arriaga, of the Spanish Republic Going Out.

LISBON, Dec. 30.—The Lisbon press reports that Manuel de Arriaga, president of the republic, intends to resign from office. There is, however, no confirmation of this, and the president continues his efforts to organize a new cabinet.

A desperate fight between an artillery, and an infantry regiment at Oporto recently threw the whole city in a commotion. In tense rivalry exists between the two corps and matters came to a head while both were carousing in the lower part of the city. Weapons were used freely and the combatants for a long time defied the efforts of the police and other troops to separate them. Eventually the commandant sent for the firemen, and after an hour's drenching the brawlers capitulated.

The ringleaders were arrested and will be court-martialed, as there is a large number of wounded. The regiments have been transferred to other stations.

CARDS were received this morning for a smart affair which Miss Emily Harrold will give on Wednesday afternoon, January 2, at the hospitable family home in Fruitvale. The three guests of honor for the occasion are: Miss Jack Van Sickle, Mrs. Alfred Dana and Mrs. Victor Chambers. A large number of the local smart set have been bidden for the afternoon, which will be delightfully appointed.

NEW YEAR'S AFFAIRS.

The new year is to be ushered in with numerous brilliant dinners, dances, receptions and informal gatherings. Nearly every table in Hotel Oakland and at many of the cafes have been reserved, while at the Claremont Country Club there will be the annual ball, preceded by many dinners.

Mrs. Ernest Mendenhall is among those who will give house dances, as will also Mrs. Robert Collins of San Leandro. Dr. Dagley Crosby and Mrs. Crosby have asked 250 guests to share the hospitality of their Fruitvale home for a New Year's day reception, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank "Hum" Proctor will also entertain a large number of bay city folk on New Year's day.

WEDDED TODAY.

Warren Allen of Berkeley and Miss Esther Louise Houk will be married today in Indianapolis, after a tour of the Middle West, will visit Oakland to make their home. Allen is a pianist and organist of ability. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Allen of Regent street. Miss Houk is also a musician and the couple met in the University of California in the summer of 1911. The marriage of Miss Esther Sadler and Robert H. Pland of Independence, Ia., will take place on the evening of January 30, at this home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Sadler, on Bonaventure avenue.

Miss Mabel Sadler will be her sister's maid of honor, and six girl friends will be ribbon bearers. They are Miss Lucy Phillips, Miss Lenore Saleg, Miss Dorothy Wilkinson, Miss May Chase and Miss Katherine Scott.

AT CORONADO.

Miss Helen May Dille is at present at Hotel Coronado, where she is enjoying some delightful days. She will not return to her Berkeley home for some weeks.

RECENT WEDDING.

Miss Mildred Irish Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Brown of Berkeley, and Willard Louis Webber, were married last week in St. Paul. Episcopal church before a large number of relatives and close friends. Rev. Alexander Allen performed the ceremony, which was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Hotel Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Webber are at present in San Diego, and will visit Oakland on their return trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Oakland.

TO GIVE HOUSE WARMING.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Foy are planning to entertain in February at their new home in Berkeley, when they will give a housewarming.

CARD CLUB MEETS.

Mrs. T. C. Coogan entertained the members of the Cosmos Club at her home today when bridge was the game of the afternoon.

WEDDING TOMORROW.

Miss Leslie Manuel, daughter of the Walter Manuels of this city, will wed Edgar Randall tomorrow night at the family home on the lake shore. The bride will be a handsome one of broad shoulders and an ivory shade and will be trimmed in pearls and rare lace.

There will be a large number of friends and relatives at the ceremony. Miss Manuel's marriage will take her to the southern part of the state to live.

WINTER PLANS.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Brock have returned from their honeymoon, and are established in the Brock home in Berkeley.

Miss Cora Williams, Miss M. L. and Miss M. L. have taken apartments at Hotel Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Porter of Alameda have left for a four months' tour of Europe.

Major C. L. Tilden and Mrs. Tilden have returned from a visit to southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ellsworth have left for a tour of the Grand Canyon, planning to visit also the Yosemite valley.

AT BRIDGE TODAY.

Mrs. Jack Van Sickle was hostess today, entertaining at her attractive home at the bridge table when about thirty friends gathered for the afternoon.

BERKELEY COTILLON.

The second dance of the new Berkeley cotillion will be held in early January at Town and Gown clubhouse.

LETTERS THREATEN BABIES BOUGHT SOCIAL LEADERS AND SOLD IN N. Y.

Wife of Morgan's Partner Starts Epistle After Each Answer to Newspaper Advertisement.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—The series of brilliant social affairs by which Mrs. Edward Stotesbury, wife of J. Pierpont Morgan's partner, was winning social leadership of Philadelphia, may end abruptly because of menacing opposition from an unknown quarter. Since the second of her splendid balls, each of which cost a fortune and was marred by the most lavish and blazaree entertainment, a series of threatening letters have been received by the financier and his wife.

The letters were mailed in the mail section of Philadelphia, where a small newspaper has attacked editorially the custom of spending vast sums on society entertainments.

Mrs. Stotesbury, who was Mrs. Oliver Cromwell of Washington, began soon after her second marriage to devise the most elaborate and expensive assemblages of society that Philadelphia has ever seen. Her husband, with his vast interests, was amply able to permit her unstinted expenditures.

Friends of her husband and herself have been alarmed by the threatening nature of the letters recently received. Even the lives of the financier and his wife were menaced.

Mrs. Stotesbury has shown that she does not take the threats lightly by making a personal appeal to some of the local society editors, asking that for a time at least her name be kept out of society columns of the newspapers and that nothing be said about any of her entertainments.

She also has given strict instructions at both Bellevue-Stratford and the Ritz Carlton, where she holds most of her functions, not to accept any more guests given at either hotel regarding her coming or going.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The first demonstration of Edison's kinetophone will be given in New York within a few weeks. The kinetophone is the name the wizard of Menlo Park has given to his latest invention, a machine which will reproduce in harmony with the moving pictures, and is to be used to add the realism of the voice of the actor to the scene thrown upon the canvas. For tests in this city the operas "Faust" and "Il Trovatore" are to be given.

MAYOR URGES YOUTHS TO PLUCK UP COURAGE

BOSTON, Dec. 30.—"Take a chance, young man, take a chance," is the admonition of "Honey Boy" John F. Fitzgerald, mayor of Boston, to the unmarried men of this city.

"The girls have their opportunity. If they don't make good by midnight Tuesday, then pop the question to them."

There will be a number of tests reserved for young couples who have been "settled" by the New Year's eve at a big celebration which is to be held on that occasion by the city.

NO USE GROWING OLD

DECLARES LILLIAN RUSSELL

Fair Actress Declares She's Still an Infant; Young in Spirit.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—What's the use of growing old and decrepit when you can be always young and joyous—what's the use?

You may grow old in the measured, finite state of successive existence, and it can't be helped; but if you age with the passing years, if you lose the flush of youthful beauty, the gladness of the buoyant, vivacious spirit of adolescence, that's your fault.

So says Lillian Russell, and with a full, deliberate realization of the 51 years she knows of, she adds:

"I am still an infant."

In an interview given yesterday she insists that her secret is no secret, but a principle, rather.

It is contained in the biblical truth: "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

As she puts it, it is this: "The person is just as young as his spirit."

"I am a great believer in cleanliness, lots of fresh air and plenty of physical exercise," continued the prima donna. "One can't properly live their life in this world, and can't rightfully enjoy the pleasures of life unless he is healthy. But baths, fresh air and exercise will prove of little avail unless the mind is hygienic, and is ventilated and exercised just the same as the body."

"Keep the mind just as clean as the body and ventilate it just as you would a room. Keep yourself from thinking thoughts that will make you worry and fret. Let your thoughts be pure, young and joyous. Don't let your intellect become stagnant. Read newspapers and books and work and laugh and live."

"Another thing. Keep up with the times. Keep up with what is going on in the world. Live along with the world. Be up to date. The woman who lets one year slip by loses six."

"Would you include keeping up with fashion?" she was asked.

"No, I should put her individuality into her dress. I think that the woman who wears a skirt that is too tight for her, or a woman who wears a certain kind of hat that is not becoming to her, just because it is the dictate of fashion, is a fool."

Hurled From Berth

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Madame Ellis, governess to the family of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Smith of Los Angeles, met with a painful accident while coming north to this city early yesterday morning on the Lark.

At 6:30 o'clock, while the train was running at full speed, an hour between Gilroy and San Jose, Miss Ellis, who was in an upper berth, was thrown out by a jolt of the train as it rounded a curve. She was hurled violently against a stanchion of the opposite lower berth and fell to the floor of the aisle.

She lay unconscious for several minutes before the accident was discovered and she was picked up. Her employer and other passengers quickly went to her aid, but she was in a highly nervous condition.

When the train reached this city, the young woman was taken to the Palace Hotel, where she was placed in a private room. It was reported that one of her legs was fractured. It was also found that the shock to her nervous system had been severe. On account of this latter phase of her condition, she will not be able to leave the hospital for a week or more.

Sparking of the accident, Smith said: "I think the Pullman Company should provide some means to prevent this kind of accident. There ought to be some sort of a contrivance to prevent passengers from falling out of their berths."

Smith is a millionaire mine owner of Michigan, who spends much of his time in Southern California, with frequent trips to this city. He has a fine stable of horses in this state.

Visit His Sick Mother

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 30.—Finley J. Shepard and Miss Helen Gould came to this city to visit the mother of the latter, who has been a patient in the New Haven Hospital for several years. They remained at the hospital about two hours. Afterward they went to the old home of Shepard at Clinton, Conn., for a brief visit, returning last evening to this city. They will return to New York today.

Shepard's mother was delighted to have her son and his fiancée call upon her. Mrs. Shepard has been blind for several years. She is an accomplished musician, and is able today to play the pipe organ with skill.

Voice Worth $2,000,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Madame Clara Butt, the famous English contralto, who during her visit to this country will sing at the wedding of Miss Helen Gould, arrived here on the Campana with her husband, Kenneth Humphreys, a celebrated baritone, and her three children—Roy, Joy and Victor, 10, 9 and 7 years old. Madame Butt declares that her voice is worth $2,000,000, basing her estimate on her average earnings, which for the last years have been $100,000 annually.

Southern Belle a Bride

WEST POINT, Miss., Dec. 30.—James Bruce Miller of Aberdeen, Scotland, an officer in the Scottish military service, and Mrs. Isabel Maupin Gordon of Great Falls, Mont., were married here yesterday in the Church of the Incarnation by Rev. Dr. James Lundy Sykes. The bride is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. R. L. Maupin of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will visit in the South, Cuba and Washington before going to Scotland.

Woman Horse Thief

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Dorothy Reason, 21 years old, of Williams, Ariz., stole a horse to get out of town rather than stand a fine or be turned out on the streets. She got as far as Dwight, Ill., after riding since Thursday, when she was captured and sent back to answer to the charge of horse stealing.

She was taken to the South Clark street station in compliance with a warrant issued by the police and returned to the city.

THAT BEAUTIFUL SMILE

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

Copyright, 1912, by Lillian Russell.

HAVE written much on the subject of smiling, but I cannot say enough. To express the beautiful in life, spiritually and physically, to read on higher development, to practice the new mental-physical culture, and to observe the hints for the toilet is to restore health, renew youth, to make the woman of 40 more fascinating than the girl of 16, and to give constant expression to life as it should be. The beginning of beauty is in the smile, so smile. Smile until you laugh; perhaps it's the first time you have smiled for months. Relax your face muscles, loosen up the cords of the heart and enjoy one good laugh. I see so many women who look as though they had not smiled in years. Some women take on the habit of a placid face, thinking that it will keep them young in appearance; that is just the opposite to the truth. A woman's genuine, healthy smile is irresistible and fascinating to man, woman and child.

Doubtless you are smiling while you read, laughing with your eyes at least, and beautiful they are I am sure, for one may hide her face behind a book or fan, all but her eyes, yet you know she is smiling from a good feeling away down inside that bubbles up into her eyes. So the only way to have beautiful expressive eyes is to be honest and happy inside. Get into the habit of smiling, practice it daily, just as you would learn to recite a poem, a little every day as a duty. Then compare your old every-day face with your new one and remark the difference. Now your new smiling face is very becoming to you, so you are going to put it on the moment you arise in the morning. It's wonderful how good-natured you will become, you can't scold with that smile on your face. You can't have indigestion and smile. That simple smiling cure covers many diseases.

Of course we all have troubles, but we must smile and bear them, God did not intend that we should have a path of roses; we would tire of them if that were the case. Every good thing we have in this world we must repay with gratitude, and smiling gratitude at that. So our thoughts must be free from revenge, resentment and malice. The smile must be from within, from a loving heart. No selfishness must mar and no sarcasm distort the smile. Smile honestly and you are obeying God's commandment of "giving." Give joy and pleasure, you will reap the reward a hundred fold.

strength you can in your lips, tightening and relaxing the muscles exactly as if you were doing calisthenics with your arms or legs. You will soon find the muscles of the lips strengthening and tightening, and if you continue, speaking more carefully and more precisely, enunciating as if you were trying to make your words carry without raising your voice, you will soon find that your speech will be better, and your lips more supple. Now, of us speak in a slovenly way, mumbling our words as if we had no right to them, and the average person's mouth is of no particular shape in consequence. The Italian says that God made a person's eyes, but that each one of us makes our own mouth. Generally speaking, we must be very careful workmen to have carved out such rough and unfinished products.

A. C.—I have never heard of peroxide being good for dandruff. If used on the scalp it will bleach the hair. There is nothing that will restore your hair to its natural color but a dye, and I do not advise you to dye your hair. Perhaps in time as it grows the roots will come in dark, and your hair will gradually regain its original color.

N. N.—Keeping light hair pretty is sometimes difficult task for blonde hair needs quite a different treatment from dark hair, and the shampoo mixtures and soaps used should be chosen with the idea of preserving the pale color. I will tell you how to keep blonde hair if you will send me a stamped envelope.

M. L. F.—You have not used the treatment long enough to notice any results. I would advise you to continue using it for about a month or two. This rarely if ever fails and I am sure you will get satisfactory results. If you would continue the treatment.

Answers to Queries

MRS. T. S. L.—I know nothing of the article you mention and would not advise you to use it unless you know more about it. The following exercises are valuable, both as aids in gaining muscular control and as a means of showing you how little command you have over your own limbs.

(1) Sit with the legs stretched straight in front of you and the feet together, toes and heels both touching. "Very slowly" open the feet, watching the shaft of light that comes between them, making it grow very gradually wider. The feet will be inclined to move with a jerky motion, going a little and stopping a little. When you make them move perfectly even and exceedingly slow you will have made a great advance toward control of your limbs.

(2) Do the same with the hands, holding them up to the light and separating the fingers.

MARY T.—The mouth indicates character and the habits of speech. The person with loose and flabby lips requires more character, more firmness and more strength of purpose. These qualities will show at once in the mouth. But, on the other hand, one may practice pinching and tightening the lips, and persistent work of this kind is as beneficial to the personality as it is to the muscles of the mouth. A perfect mouth, according to the artists, is of medium size, the upper lip bow shaped and the under lip straight. The lips should be neither too thick, which gives them a coarse expression, nor too thin, which makes the whole face express hardness and puerility. Few women trouble themselves about lips that are too thin. But the girl with thick lips generally has a grudge against nature.

MYRTLE—Enunciate your words with elaborate care; use all the girl horse thief ever seen here outside of a moving picture show. Miss Beason admitted that she stole the horse, but says she meant to return it.

"I had to do it or starve—or worse," she said.

Miss Beason is a professional rider. She said she came here from the southwest intending to get work with some wild west show or circus. When she was down to cents last Tuesday she hired the best horse in a riding academy for an hour's ride and started west.

Gives Life for Husband

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 30.—Trying in vain to save her invalid husband from burning to death in a fire that did a quarter of a million dollars damage early yesterday, Mrs. Frank S. Heath herself met death in the flames. Mr. and Mrs. Heath lived on the famous Bull estate in the town of Narragansett, and the place, with several other structures, were burned before the fire was under control.

Newlyweds to Farming

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—Following the marriage here last summer of John L. Mulford and Miss Amy Crump, the debutante daughter of Cortland D. Crump, one of the firm of shipbuilders the couple went to Ithaca, where both bride and bridegroom are taking the Cornell course in scientific agriculture.

This is believed to be the first instance where persons of wealth have entered a university for the sole purpose of learning to farm.

The Mulfords have an estate that is now handled for them, but as soon as they have completed their studies at Cornell husband and wife will return to take charge of their own farm, where cattle will be raised and butter will be made. Scientific methods will be applied to poultry raising also.

GHOULS RIFLE TOMB OF COUNT AND COUNTESS

VIENNA, Dec. 30.—Ghouls yesterday rifled the tomb of the Count and Countess Rheyde-Grosswarden. They were probably tempted by the tradition that a very valuable dual crown and family jewels were buried with the bodies of the count and countess. The ghouls found nothing except human remains, which they scattered on the floor of the mausoleum. There is no clue to the vandals. County Rheyde died in 1831.

MAN OF MANY OFFICES IS DEAD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—William Swann Andrews, for 15 years commissioner of records in this city and secretary of the Democratic National Committee in 1876, 1884 and 1888, died here yesterday, aged 71 years. He had a versatile career as actor, soldier, legislator, lawyer, reporter, editor, politician and holder of several public offices. As a member of the New York State Assembly, he introduced a bill which resulted in the organization of the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children."

FLAMES DESTROY CHURCH

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," 200 children, members of a Sunday school class, marched out of their classroom here through smoke from a fire that destroyed the Lorimer Memorial Baptist church. Mrs. Elmer Anderson, organist, and Miss Martha Marquardt, teacher of a primary class, played the music and led the singing until all the children were in safety. By that time the flames were so close to the two women that they were forced to flee, abandoning their coats and furs.

SCHOOL AND PLAYGROUND

TENNIS IS FAVORITE ON OAKLAND'S PLAYGROUNDS

Tennis has been one of the most popular games of the Christmas vacation in the local playgrounds, where courts have been equipped for expert as well as amateur players. The Bella Vista Park playground was the scene of the most enthusiastic play.

Since the inaugural event hundreds of boys and girls have frolicked upon the reservation.

Many tournaments have been conducted in the various pleasure resorts under the direction of the playground supervisors. Enthusiasm was shown in the game by a sportsmanlike spirit has been displayed in all the sports.

On Christmas day there were no special exercises in the playgrounds but the youngsters enjoyed themselves on the swings, trapeze and the slides.

Prior to the close of the winter season many baseball and basketball challenges will be issued on the playground grounds. In Rushmore Park the young women are being instructed in the game by Clifford McElrath, who introduced soccer in the boys' division of that playground.

In Mesquite Park playgrounds today both the boys and girls. The soccer game was very popular sport. It attracted both the boys and girls. The soccer game was very popular sport. It attracted both the boys and girls. The soccer game was very popular sport. It attracted both the boys and girls.

WINS LAURELS IN ENTERTAINMENTS

In the recent entertainment given by the children of the West Oakland Home, Emil Lehnhardt, a clever juvenile performer, played an important part in the program. About fifty youngsters appeared in a series of songs, which gave a Christmas spirit to the festival.

Young Lehnhardt is a pupil in the Merriam school of Piedmont, where he is considered one of the brightest students. In the production given by the boys and girls of that institution, he has won many laurels and has scored in a number of affairs given for charity.

Expected that they will follow the boys in a production given by the children of the school, January 2.

EMIL LEHNHARDT.

Soon after the opening of the spring term in the local high schools the boys of the Oakland high school will commence to practice for the annual dual track meet with the Berkeley high school, which will be held in March.

O. H. S. TO START TRAINING FOR DUAL MEET

Official announcement regarding the selection of the teams will be made on the school bulletin. It has been stated that the squad this year will be superior to that of the past. The high school coach is confident that the athletes of the school will make a splendid showing this season as there is splendid material in the school. Prior to the meet there will be a number of rallies wherein the rosters will arouse enthusiasm in the interschool events.

The latest baseball contest last term was played between the Oakland High and the Manual Training and Commercial high school in Freeman's park, where the Oakland high boys carried off the honors by a score of 5 to 4. The lineup was as follows:

NEW YEAR TO BE GIVEN ROUSING WELCOME

CELEBRATION
GREATEST

Illumination, Air Flight, Fire Engine Run Features of Program.

Watch Night Services, Merriment in Hotels and Cafes and Dancing Planned.

The greatest New Year's eve celebration Oakland has ever known, following the year of greatest accomplishment in the city's history to date, will take place tomorrow night with carnival features.

The observance bidding adieu to the old and welcome to the new year will include the flight over the city at midnight of an aeroplane equipped with a pot of scarlight, super parties in the new Hotel Oakland and in the cafes, band concerts from 8:30 o'clock to midnight at several points down town, a thrilling dash of fire-fighting apparatus through the streets, featuring on the streets, watch-night services in the verious churches, open houses at the social centers and club headquarters. City officials and a committee of business men have meticulously completed the arrangements for the eventful evening.

AMUSEMENTS APLENTY.

The program follows:
From 8:30 to midnight—Band concerts as follows: Clay street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, McCall's band; Harrison street, near Thirteenth, Henderson's band; Seventh street, between Broadway and Washington, Jenny's band; Ninth street, between Broadway and Washington, Scott's band; Eleventh street, between Broadway and Washington, Callahan's band.

Dancing on the streets between 8:30 and midnight.

10:30—Bombs will be fired to notify the public that the aeroplane bearing electric lights so that it may be seen flying in the air, has started from Alameda eastward, over Oakland and will encircle the city half twice or three times, according to air currents experienced by Aviator H. W. Blakeley. This is the first time flight over attempted, Blakeley having flown over San Francisco and Oakland just after dusk and landed by the lights of bonfires at his starting point. He has decided to make a night flight.

RED FIRE TO BURN.

11:25 p. m.—Red fire engine from the First National Bank building, with a warning to all citizens to get off the streets onto the sidewalks on Broadway and Washington streets as promptly as 11:30, the run of several pieces of apparatus of the fire department down-way to Seventh street and thence up Washington street, will furnish a thriller never witnessed on this coast before, but which of late years has become a feature of Chicago, Denver and other cities. Firemen on the engine will carry red fire engines which will burn for fifteen minutes, and which will allow the outlines of the new apparatus to be seen by the crowds as the engines rush past.

The committee having the celebration in charge will meet for final action at the Merchants' Exchange tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock to complete all details of the program.

MERRIMENT AROUND TABLES.
Among the jolly affairs of the evening will be the parties at the Hotel Oakland, the Palace Cafe, the Forum and the Saddle Rock. Many tables have been served for the evening and the merriment will be unbounded.

At a conference between Chief of Police Peterson, Fire Chief Ball, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Turner and business men it has been decided that all the fire apparatus, both horse-drawn and automobile, in the central district of the city, should participate in the celebration, to demonstrate to visitors the protection afforded the mercantile section of Oakland.

The route to be followed by the fire apparatus will be from San Pablo avenue and Eighteenth street on the north, south to Broadway, to Seventh street, to Washington street, north to Fourteenth street, to Clay street and then north to San Pablo avenue, where the run will end.
All cross streets will be kept closed by all police by means of fires. As an additional feature the city commissioners have allowed the municipal departments to use their automobiles, manned by firemen carrying red torches, in a rapid run through the streets following the fire engines. Each piece of fire apparatus will be manned with its full complement of men, each with a red torch.

ROWDYISM BARRED.

Chief of Police Peterson has issued special instructions to the patrolmen. Innocent merrymaking will not be curtailed, but all rowdyism will be immediately stopped. Horns, cowbells, crickets and confetti will be granted full sway. The use of fancy costumes and masques will add to the picturesqueness of the scene in the early illuminated streets.

CAPTAIN RALPH J. FANEUF IS HONORED

FIRST BATTALION ELECTS HIM MAJOR

RALPH J. FANEUF OF OAKLAND, WHO HAS BEEN ELECTED
MAJOR FIRST BATTALION FIELD ARTILLERY, N. G. C.

Field Artillery Batteries of Stockton and Oakland Meet at Gateway City

Captain Ralph J. Faneuf of Battery B, Oakland, was unimously elected major of the first battalion of Field Artillery, the only battalion in the State Militia, at a meeting of the officers of Batteries A of Los Angeles, B of Oakland and C of Stockton, held at Stockton yesterday. Each battery was represented by five officers and Adjutant-General Forbes, in charge of the National Guard, attended. Following the election a banquet was served the visiting officers by Battery C.

PAVILION PROTEST BRINGS ABOUT MERRY BICKERINGAncient Antagonism Said to Be at Bottom of Opposition

Merry warfare is promised when the hearing of the protest against the continued use of the Piedmont pavilion for boxing exhibitions given by the Oakland Wheelmen Athletic club comes before the city council. Chief of Police Walter J.
Peterson, to whom the protest was referred, is preparing a report which will be submitted within a few days. The date for the hearing then will be set.

The ancient antagonism between the "old timers" and the designers on the pavilion is said to be at the bottom of the protest, as it has been learned that many of the residents in the valley in the immediate vicinity of the pavilion have no objection to the continuance of the exhibitions. The protest was signed largely by residents of the hills around the pavilion and it is rumored that many of these are ready to withdraw their names.

LIVE FAR FROM PLACE.

"This is a peculiar protest," said Chief Walter J. Peterson today. "It is signed by about two score residents, but many of the signers live from eight to 10 blocks from the Piedmont rink, and not on streets leading directly to it.

"Another curious fact about the protest is that we have questioned several of the signers, and many have informed us that they had no particular objection to the fights, but that they signed the petition because the owner wanted them to."

It is alleged by friends of Mel Moffitt, manager of the club, that business interests are anxious to place a garage in the old pavilion, and that this motive is one of the reasons why the protest has been started at this time. Moffitt declares that he will fight the attempt to oust him from the building at this time, and will bring residents of the immediate neighborhood to espouse his cause.

ROW IS MERRY ONE.

The protest against the Wheelmen's Athletic club continuing the monthly boxing exhibitions has stirred up a tempest in the exclusive neighborhood of Vernon and Harrison streets, and the combat is slowly climbing the exclusive slopes of "The Heights," according to those who are familiar with the situation. The bickering has been carried into parlors and dinettes from automobile to their respective places of business. It has been hinted that derisive language has been used in expressing the ideas of those opposed to the protest which was recently filed with the city council asking that be stopped.

According to those, Dr. G. B. N. Clow, prominent member of the progress and prosperity committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, has been requested facetiously to denounce the
I. Harrison Clay is said to declare that he signed the protest under a misapprehension, and Harry East Miller is equally positive that he was not sure as to what he was signing when he affixed his name to the petition. John Howard Jr. freely admits "pressure" and said that he had no intention of furthering any petition that interfered with the Wheelmen as long as they complied with the law regulating the holding of boxing matches.

William J. Cahill is another whose name may be withdrawn.
Some of those who liked the fistie combats and enjoyed seeing a crowd in the neighborhood contend that the contest served to bring people to Oakland from across the bay and help in a small way to advertise the city. It is stated in addition that two inmates new under the Wheelmen were better than those held elsewhere and that there was never any question "frame-ups" or dishonest practices in connection with the cards presented.

INVITES INVESTIGATION.

The proposed move of the Wheelmen to Sixth and Washington streets has satisfied some of those who signed the petition and the matter was presumably dropped. Moffitt, however, is anxious to prove that as far as his club is concerned it is all that it should be and has invited a searching investigation on the part of the police authorities.

Many of those who signed the petition were told that the old Piedmont pavilion would be torn down if the Wheelmen left.
Then it was found that this was not the case, and it is alleged that those who signed the petition knew it.

The pavilion is owned by the Oakland Traction Company and is part of the railroad holdings under 50-year bonds and cannot be torn down without the consent of a majority of the stockholders. These bonds will have 30 years to run.

This led to more bickering and trouble and many of those favoring the boxing matches are up in arms because the majority of the petitioners do not live in where in the neighborhood of the pavilion.
Moffitt said today:

"There are but very few of the signers who could in any possible way be affected by the holding of the matches.
The majority of them live so far from the pavilion that they do not ever pass the corner. Most of them go home by way of Grand avenue. The Wheelmen club has had its headquarters on Grand avenue for many years and it will not be possible for them to move to Sixth and Washington streets. As we have seen the petitioners have been questioned and

DEEP TRIBUTE

IS PAID TO PIONEER

Many Mourn at Bier of Mrs.
Charlotte T. H. Garth-waite.

Interment Takes Place This Morning at Mountain View Cemetery.

Amid banks of floral tributes from the many friends of the deceased, impressive funeral ceremonies were held yesterday for the late Mrs. Charlotte Theresa Hatfield Garthwaite, pioneer of California, and one of the best-known women of Oakland, who died last week at the family home, 331 Fairmont avenue. Interment took place in the Mountain View cemetery.
This was private.

Hosts of friends and acquaintances of the dead woman were present at the funeral services yesterday Rev.
William Keegan, pastor of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Charles Hobart of Sacramento and Rev. Dr. Woods, officiated. The visiting pastors eulogized the life of the well-known woman and spoke of the loss the community had sustained through her death.

LEADER IN CHURCH WORK.

Mrs. Garthwaite, who was the mother of the prominent Oakland bankers and financiers of that name, was one of the leaders in the work of the Baptist church of the city and was the originator of the Young Women's Missionary Society and also a founder of the Woman's Baptist Society. She had been an executive member for the latter society for the past twenty-five years.

She was one of the five charter members of the Young Women's Christian Association, and took a prominent part in the work of that organization and other social service and charity plans up to the time of her death. The surviving charter members of the Y. W. C. A. are Mrs.
D. W. C. Gaskill, Mrs. H. H. Lawrence, Mrs. Charles Kellogg and Mrs.
W. H. Hamilton.

Mrs. Garthwaite was born of Hug-not ancestry, at Elizabeth, N. J., in 1825. She was married in New York and came to California with her husband, via the isthmus of Panama, in 1856.

LUMBER MERCHANT'S WIDOW.

She was the widow of the late Harry Garthwaite, prominent lumber merchant. She was the mother of W. W. Garthwaite, president of the Oakland Bank of Savings; the late H.
P. Garthwaite, mining engineer; E.
H. Garthwaite, consulting mining engineer, who was for many years associated with John Mays Hammond and Cecil Rhodes in South Africa, and Mrs. Thomas C. Garthwaite, a prominent church and club worker.

Her grandchildren are Mrs. Arthur Tashira, John Woodroffe Garthwaite,
Margaret, Edwin, Wymond and Junia Garthwaite and Irving, Theda and Charlotte Cockroft.

INDIANS PETITION
U. S. FOR LANDS

"Prince of Wales," Chief of Clallam Tribe, Goes to Washington.

SEATTLE, Dec. 30.—"The Prince of Wales," present chief of the Clallam tribe of Indians, who have been homeless and landless since 1855, left here yesterday for Washington, D. C., to present Congress and the Interior department the Indians' petition for redress of grievances which they have endured nearly 68 years.

In 1855 a treaty between the Indians and the government was ratified under the terms of which the Indians were to surrender their hunting land lying between Cape Flattery and Hood Canal, 2840 acres. The Indians vacated their lands, but when they arrived at their new hunting grounds it had been given to another tribe.
Repeated appeals have failed to secure the return of their old home or the assignment of new lands, it is al-

ALAMEDA TO CELEBRATE
NEW YEAR'S EVE HERE

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30. — Large crowds of Alamedans will take part in the Oakland night. There will be many parties given by Alamedans in the Oakland cafes and many other Alamedans will spend New Year's eve at the Hotel Oakland.

Numerous Alameda theater parties, many of them singing, have also been arranged. Probably 75 per cent of Alameda's celebrators will join with Oakland.

Many who attended our classes have joined the Y. M. C. A. since the new building has been erected. The Olympic club of San Francisco took the man who was in charge of our museum. We are trying now to build up the club. Now people who do not live in the neighborhood or who do not know anything about how we conduct our affairs have brought this charge against the club. I am going to fight that charge about the club's affairs. I am going to prove that the club is a good club and that it will not be possible for them to move to Sixth and Washington streets. As we have seen the petitioners have been questioned and

TAFT DECLINES

SCREWS

Refuses to Command Comptroller to Furnish Information to Probers.

Opinion Delivered by Attorney General Wickersham, Basis of Refusal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—President Taft has declined to instruct the comptroller of the currency to make an investigation to secure for the House money trust investigating committee facts not now in the possession of the comptroller. Guided by an opinion of Attorney-General Wickersham the President has advised the committee, through its attorney, Samuel Untermyer, who made the request for information, that he does not think it proper to obtain the data in this manner.

Attorney-General Wickersham today made public the text of his opinion because, he said, "of the confused and erroneous statements" which have appeared during the past few days regarding its purport.

NO LEGAL EFFECT.

One important feature of the attorney-general's opinion is the statement that legal effect is attached to the directions contained in the House committee resolution calling upon the comptroller of the currency, secretary of the treasury and other officials to comply with all instructions of the committee for assistance in its labors.

"The duties of the comptroller are imposed by law," says the opinion.
"And cannot be lessened or increased by the House."

PRESIDENT HOLDS REINS.

The attorney-general's opinion upon which President Taft based his letter to the committee holds that the President has the lawful power to direct the comptroller to supply the committee with information already in his possession. The President, on the other hand, can refuse to divulge this information if he thinks the interests of the government require this course.

Most of the information already in the comptroller's possession, and the attorney-general holds that the comptroller has the right to exercise his power in providing data merely for the purpose of furnishing it to a committee of one House of Congress.

WHO'S PAYING UP
FOR J. C. CROMLEY

San Francisco Justice of Peace Has Puzzle on His Hands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Somebody up in Sonoma county is out $100, but who it is Justice of the Peace Barnett is unable to decide. The tidings of the loss came this morning, when John C. Cromley, a school teacher of Petros, Sonoma county, whose July salary had been held up on an order from the Justice in order to satisfy a claim of the Ackley Law and Collection Agency, testified that he had received all of his money.

"My salary has been paid me regularly," he stated on the witness stand.
"I got it for July, and I have had it every month since."

"Well, we received $100 from Auditor
C. A. Pool of Sonoma county, supposed to represent your July pay."

"I have no kick coming. I have gotten all my money," replied Cromley. "There is a mistake somewhere. My demand is $0.00 by the trustees and the treasurer cashed it."

The court ordered the Ackley company to collect $50 of the $100 received from Pool and the remainder is in the hands of the clerk.

"Some one is paying this bill and I don't know who it is," affirmed the justice.

It is three years since the plaintiff obtained a judgment against Cromley for $140, and he was located in Sonoma county only last July. It was then that judgment was taken against him and his July salary supposed to have been held up.

GREAT GERMAN

DIPLOMAT DIES

Empire Mourns Passing of Alfred von Koderlein-Waechter.

Steered His Nation Through International Crises Over Morocco.

STUTTGART, Germany, Dec. 30.— Alfred von Koderlein-Waechter, secretary of state for the German empire, died suddenly at his home here today after a brief illness. Von Koderlein-Waechter was enjoying his usual Christmas visit to his sister, the Baroness von Gemmingen, near here. He had been unwell for several days. The end came with great suddenness from heart failure while he was alone.

Alfred von Koderlein-Waechter was 60 years old. He had held the office of imperial secretary of state for foreign affairs only since June 28, 1910, when he succeeded Wilhelm von Schoen, who became German ambassador to France.

The advent of Von Koderlein-Waechter was not greeted with great enthusiasm in the German imperial parliament. He was a very poor orator and his speeches did not create a good impression.

WAS SHREWDP DIPLOMAT.

He was known, however, as one of the shrewdest men in German diplomacy and was regarded as an expert on affairs of the Near East, owing to his having been stationed for a long time in the Balkans. His removal from the German cabinet at the present time is considered to be a great mistake.

During his short term as foreign secretary he was very successful in steering the international politics of the German empire through a period of unusual entanglement, more especially in regard to the settlement of the dispute between France and Germany as to the future of Morocco.

The negotiations were brought to a successful termination last year when France and Germany signed an agreement as the result of which their relations have become much more cordial.

FAVORITE OF EMPEROR.

Alfred von Koderlein-Waechter was for many years a great favorite of Emperor William, who, however, practically banished him for a decade to what was then the comparatively unimportant post of German minister at Bucharest, because on one occasion Von Koderlein-Waechter had presumed too much on the emperor's favor.

Alfred von Koderlein-Waechter died
a bachelor. He was born July 10, 1852, and while he was studying law volunteered and fought throughout the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71.

He entered the diplomatic service in 1879 and served in St. Petersburg, Paris, Copenhagen, Constantinople and Bucharest. Owing to the incompetence of the foreign secretary's death there has been no talk as to his probable successor.

MACCABEES TO GIVE
NEW YEAR'S DANCE

MELROSE, Dec. 30. — A New Year's dance and prize wait will be given by the Melrose Hive No. 79 Ladies of the Maccabees next Wednesday evening at Melrose Central hall, corner of Forty-eighth avenue and East Fourteenth street.
Good music has been engaged for the evening and the dance promises to be a success.

The committee in charge of the arrangements are: Mrs. Robert Frank,
chairman; Mrs. Charles Draper, Miss C.
Moyers and Miss May Albers.

ADVISE TURKEY

TO COME TO TERMS

Ottoman Empire Receives Both Advice and Warning From Ambassadors.

Handbills Counsel Continuance of War by Turks; Peace Conference Reconvenes

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 30.—The ambassadors of most of the European powers have advised the Ottoman government to make an effort to come to terms with the Balkan allies.

The Russian ambassador added a warning as to the dangerous consequences of delay in view of the situation in Asia Minor.

Many handbills have been distributed among the Turkish officers and men, counseling the continuance of the war and the non-surrender of the fortress of Adrianople.

PEACE CONFERENCE ON.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The peace conference between the delegates of the Balkan states and of the Turkish empire assembled at 4 o'clock this afternoon in St. James palace for its seventh session.
Dr. S. Danoff, member of the Bulgarian parliament, presided.

It is expected here that the course of the negotiations may be influenced by three events.

The first of these is the death of the German foreign secretary, Alfred von Kiderlein-Waechter, which, coming soon after that of Baron Marschall von Bie-berstein, formerly German ambassador at Constantinople and afterward at London, deprives Turkey of two valuable supporters of the maintenance of the Ottoman empire. Kiderlein-Waechter was supposed to have been the instigator of the Austrian-Rumanian armistice on the Balkan frontier.

HOUSE REASSEMBLED.

The second event is the reassembling of the house of commons today. Although Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, is determined to maintain Great Britain's strict neutrality, he cannot prevent members of the house asking questions which show the trend of public opinion. Turkey has made sympathizers here. This is partly due to the traditional antagonism against Russia and partly to the recollection of the Crimean war, when the Turkish and British troops fought together as allies.

BIG LOAN RUMORED.

The widely published report that Turkey has succeeded in negotiating a loan in London is discredited here. It was rumored that a number of British bankers had consented to lend the Ottoman government $100,000 on condition that Turkey would grant autonomous government to the Hebrews in Palestine.

It is pointed out that the Ottoman government has been trying to place short term treasury bills having high interest but these efforts have not met with much success. Under these circumstances bankers here consider that a Turkish loan would have little chance.

The situation seems to be that Turkey has been told she will be financed when peace has been concluded, but that no funds will be forthcoming until then.

The committee in charge of the arrangements are: Mrs. Robert Frank,
chairman; Mrs. Charles Draper, Miss C.
Moyers and Miss May Albers.

(By "BILLY FITZ.")

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30. — Luther McCarty and Al Falzer practically concluded training today for their 20 round battle with the champion of New Year's day. Both boxed for the last time in their respective training camps today and only light and gymnasium work will be done until the 31st.

The lackers of the two heavyweights have indulged in much manipulation in order to make one or the other a favorite, but even money is being offered with a prospect that McCarty money would predominate at the ringside unless the favorite is the challenger.

The sum promised by New York backers to be placed on Falzer.

Both men are said to be in perfect condition to advance. The latter's seat sale is the heartiest in the history of local pugilism.

Of the year and thinks this youngster will be of the main support of the Oaklands. There is much doubt whether Forman will be with us, the stubby one did not show anything last year, except his glove. He will probably report for training but it is not certain whether in better condition or he will be dropped before the season opens.

Grinding teams were out to work today on the site of the new ball park. The stands will be lot next week and three sets of men will start on the two bleachers. The contractor is J. J. McLaughlin. Leavitt is determined that the new grounds will be ready by the opening of the season even if the men have to work on the grounds all night long. The work is in the same direction as does Freeman's park with the stands along the main

in Shed.

CENTREVILLE, Dec. 30.—Following a dispute with her husband, Mrs. I. Nonokana, an employee of the J. Ferrera ranch, Alameda county, went into a shed and hanged herself with her neckscarf. Both the woman and her husband, J. Nonokana, were employed on the ranch. Nonokana was a ranch hand and his wife as a cook. It is said that she had frequent quarrels with her husband, and had often threatened to take her life.

TO PROBE DEATH OF WEALTHY RANCHMAN

MARTINEZ, Dec. 30.—An inquest is to be held Tuesday to investigate the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of W. G. Jones, a wealthy ranchman of the Fresno district, who fell from a Southern Pacific train near the town of Pittsburg.

Gov. Atchafalaya was returning to Fresno from San Francisco. Shortly after the train had passed Martinez a brakeman noticed a man trying to raise a vestibule door, including the car step. He ordered the man to return to his seat. Later, however, he again found the man attempting to pull up the trap. The brakeman reported the incident to the conductor. Later the man disappeared. A wire from Pittsburg awaited the arrival of the train at Fresno, stating that a passenger had been found near the track, dying from a fractured skull.

The body has been identified as that of Gov. by the ranchman's brother, George Gov of Fresno.

CELEBRATE START OF NEW RAIL LINEMelrose Rejoices at the Opening of East Sixteenth Route.

MELROSE, Dec. 30.—Big celebrations held under the auspices of the Steinway Improvement Association and Melrose Improvement club yesterday commemorated the opening of the new East Sixteenth street line of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, operating between Washington and Thirteenth streets and Fifty-fifth and Ygnacio avenues, near the Foothill boulevard. City officials, business men, officers of the various commercial organizations, and over 1000 of the citizens took part in the opening ceremony.

The committee accompanied by a band and a number of officials made a tour of the principal streets in a specially decorated car. The festival was formally opened by L. A. Barker of the Melrose club, after which he introduced A. P. Steifwater, chairman of the day. Those who spoke were M. W. Nicholson, president of the Melrose club; Frank C. Mott, Secretary A. A. Denison of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Wilbur Walker of the Merchant's Exchange, Commissioner of Finance John Forrest, R. C. Vase, former city councilman, and Mayor E. W. Woodward of the Steinway Improvement Association, who inaugurated the celebration.

Two musical solos were rendered by Mrs. Casters. Music was provided by Jordan's band.

MOTT IS SPEAKER

Mayor MOTT, in his address, alluded to the advantages which would be gained by the residents of the district through which the new line traverses. He urged his auditors to join improvement clubs, and to keep in touch with all matters of civic moment.

Forrest spoke on the opportunities for improvement in the district. Commissioner Forrest emphasized the fact that the city officials were always willing and ready to receive suggestions for the betterment of the city.

Former Councilman Vase in his address told of the endeavors of the improvers to secure the new street car line, and the manner in which the franchise was granted under the old city charter.

FUNERAL OF LATE
PATROLMAN HELD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The funeral of Patrolman William H. Meagher of the Bush-street station was held this morning from his late residence, 2322 Webster street, with a full police escort. Meagher was crushed to death by a car on Fillmore street last Thursday night.

The services today were held at St. Dominic's church and the interment was at Holy Cross cemetery. Meagher had been on the police force for 23 years.

ENGAGEMENT IS CAUSE OF ROWLiquor Man of Pleasanton Charges He Was Threatened With Knife.

PLEASANTON, Dec. 30.—Stating that A. Bon, proprietor of a French steam laundry here, had threatened him with a knife, H. Garabaldi, of the firm of Chittoli & Garabaldi, liquor dealers, swore to a complaint, and hearing in the case is set for Thursday.

According to Garabaldi the alleged offense arose out of his remarking that he had heard that a Porto Rican was going to marry one of the French girls in the laundry. Bon at the time treated the matter as a joke.

Garabaldi, in his complaint, stated that a short time later as he passed the door of the laundry, Bon called him in. Bon then locked the door and stood over him with a knife, demanding that Garabaldi state which girl was to be married.

Garabaldi said he didn't know, but Bon persisted, and the liquor man claiming that for a time he despaired of his life, the knife being so close to his neck.

After pleading with the Frenchman, Garabaldi said he at last "cooled him down" and was permitted to leave. In the same room with the two men were the laundry girls and Bon's wife.

TWO HURT WHEN AUTO HITS POLEGeorge Gropp and Frank Cameron Injured at Fruit-vale Corner.

FRUITVALE, Dec. 30.—An automobile collision with a trolley pole at East Fourteenth street and Thirty-sixth avenue last night resulted in serious injuries to George Gropp and Frank Cameron, residing at San Pablo avenue and the county line. The auto ran into the pole when the steering gear broke. Gropp and Cameron were hurled from the machine, and were severely cut and bruised. Dr. Daniel Crosby dressed their injuries. Miller was uninjured.

A Chisholm, a cement contractor of 353 Thirty-fourth avenue, received injuries to his head yesterday evening when a horse which he was driving took fright and ran away at the Foothill boulevard and Liese avenue, throwing him heavily to the ground.

SWAIN MAY GO.

The Seattle Northwestern League Club is not after Cupid Swain, the white hope of last year's Senators. He did not come up to expectations last year and the locals have him on the market for a good trade of sale. It is more than likely that Seattle will get him if Manager Wolverton can make a satisfactory arrangement.

BUSHERS BIFF BALL HARD;
WINTER GAME EVER GOODRay Kramer, Oakland Star, Shuts Out
Fast Frasers in City League

ALAMEDA, Dec. 30.—A disgruntled lot of baseball fans are mostly and exclusively committing today on the throwdown at the ball game at Alameda Recreation Park yesterday between the Alameda and a picked team of big leaguers and former clever amateurs. Duffy Lewis and Benny Henderson, billed to the two bright particular stars of the new, fall to appear in the second half of the crowd of fans were on hand to see Duffy Lewis in action. The Boston holder, who is here in his home town for the winter, neither put in an appearance nor was he on hand. The management of the Alameda ball team stoutly asserts that both Lewis and Henderson promised to appear. Jules Bidar, an officer of the Alameda Baseball Association, which owns and manages the ball park and the Alameda, said that Lewis definitely promised to take part in the game.

There is talk that Lewis is barred from taking part in any games by reason of his Boston Red Sox contract. There is other talk that he is merely barred from receiving money for playing. There was a gate on at the park, though the management explained that Lewis was to have received none of the proceeds. Many fans, handing over their money at the ticket window for tickets, remarked that the reason they were there was to see Duffy Lewis play ball once more. "They didn't see him."

Aside from the disappointment over the Lewis-Henderson fiasco, the game was good enough for anyone to watch. The All-Stars won, when Councilman William Hammond, a former Oakland Coast League star, pitched a brilliant game and scored Toots Bliss, netting the All-Stars the winning run. Al Ross, with Hammond, pitched a brilliant game and scored Toots Bliss, netting the All-Stars the winning run. Al Ross, with Hammond, pitched a brilliant game and scored Toots Bliss, netting the All-Stars the winning run.

The game was a snappy, well-played affair, with much good work on both sides. McCune, Dunleavy, Bull Croft and Pollard secured two-base hits. Paul Macdonald made a spectacular catch in the field after a hard run and Al Ross picked the ball almost off the ground in a fifty-foot drive. The summary:

ALL-STAR..... 12 2
Batters: For All-Stars, Frank Grogg and Toots Bliss; for Alameda, Freddie Johnson and Walter Ryan.

LEAGUE..... 10 2
Batters: For the victors in the double-header with the Columbus on the San Pablo grounds. The score of the first game was 2 to 0. The second game was 10 to 2. The victors were the Alameda, who defeated the League by a score of 10 to 2.

ASHES OF DR. RIZAL BURIED AT MONUMENT

MANILA, Dec. 30.—The ashes of Dr. Jose Rizal, the national hero of the Philippines, were reinterred today at the base of his monument near the scene of his execution by the Spaniards on December 30, 1898.

The urn containing the ashes reposed in the municipal hall Sunday and was viewed by thousands. Eight thousand school children formed an escort when the urn was transported through the streets today. Newton Gilbert, vice-governor, was among the speakers.

SEMINOLE CLUB TO HOLD DANCE AT NEW HOTEL

GEORGE E. FALLERY, W. E. ANDREWS, R. M. REED.

The sixth annual ball of the Seminole Club will be held at Hotel Oakland on Friday evening, January 17. For the past few weeks the committee in charge has been busy with the mailing list of their friends, and it was announced yesterday that a limited number of 500 invitations had been issued.

The officers and directors of the club are bending every effort towards making the affair a grand success. The club, in consideration of the appeal of the many followers of the organization, has decided to hold the biggest ball in the largest ball room. Ray Reed, President of the Seminole Club, has appointed George Fallery, who will have full charge of the grand ball, assisted by Charles Spengler, W. E. Andrews, H. W. Brown, A. E. Miles, D. H. McNitt.

ROBBED OF JEWEL AND $25 IN MONEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Homer Sanborn of 861 Guerrero street was robbed of a gold emblem with the letter "S" set with 61 diamonds and a watch valued at $25 while in a Pullman car early this morning. On discovering his loss he found a policeman and suggested that five companions with whom he had spent the evening be searched. His friends protested their innocence but submitted to having their pockets gone through, but the missing valuables were not found.

GRANGE FAVORS WEIGHT.
 SANTA ROSA, Dec. 30.—At its regular meeting here the Santa Rosa Grange went on record against the practice of selling farm products by any other method than by weight.

A resolution similar to those being passed by the local granges throughout the state, was adopted as follows: Resolved, That Santa Rosa Grange No. 17 respectfully requests our legislators to enact laws, at the earliest possible date, making it the only lawful way to market farm produce by weight; that no eggs shall be sold by the dozen, and no hay by the bale; no fruit by the box; but all products of whatever kind shall be sold by weight and quality only.

Pacific Car Demurrage Bureau

NOTICE TO RECEIVERS AND SHIPPERS OF INTERSTATE CARLOAD FREIGHT INCREASE IN DEMURRAGE RATE.

By order of the Interstate Commerce Commission a demurrage rate of $3.00 per car per day will take effect on January 6, 1913, on all cars to be loaded with or containing freight of an interstate character; this rate being the same as is now applied on State traffic. Tariffs providing for this increased rate will be ready for distribution about Thursday, January 2, 1913, and may be had by applying to the undersigned or to local freight agents or members of this bureau.

'MODERN EVE' AT THE MACDONOUGH

Tuneful Musical Comedy Has Many Song-Successes in Score.

"A Modern Eve," now playing at the Macdonough, is an imported success from Berlin, Germany—where it is still a reigning favorite. Martin Beck and Mort H. Singer are the fortunate producers who, by their keen judgment, have placed its charms, and judging by its record-breaking run in Chicago, its delightful music has become the rage everywhere, and the fascinating waltz song, "Good-bye, Everybody," "Lonesome Moon," "Hello, Sweetheart," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love?" and "Rita, My Margarita," are remarkably popular.

The music was written by Victor Hollander, also distinguished as the composer of "Samrun" and "Jean O'Brien," both of whom have been associated with many of the musical successes heard in Europe in the past ten years. The scenes are laid at Aix-les-bains, France, during the present time, and the story centers about the Casseidier family—father, mother and two pretty daughters. The mother rules her home with an iron hand, and inculcates the same spirit within her attractive daughters, with almost disastrous results when two ardent suitors resent feminine rule.

2 PRISONERS IN WELL RESCUED

Homesteaders in Oregon Without Food and Water for Six Days.

BURNS, Ore., Dec. 30.—Prisoners at the bottom of a well 55 feet deep for six days, without food or water, Herbert I. Koontz, aged 33, and William W. Carroll, aged 25, homesteaders in Catlow Valley, Harney county, were rescued Sunday a week ago.

The men were preparing to deepen a well already 55 feet down and, careless, Koontz lowered himself into the bottom and Carroll had descended fifteen feet when the rope broke. The fall of seventy feet resulted in two broken legs and other injuries. Koontz bravely saved to climb out. Twice he climbed to within twenty feet of the top, only to fall back, sustaining bruises. The third attempt carried him to within fifteen feet of the top and there he remained, unable to climb further and too weak to go down again safely.

TEAMSTER HEARS.
 Almost ready to collapse, Koontz heard a passing teamster and summoning all his strength called for help. Fortunately the teamster heard the cries and tearing some wire from a fence fastened it to the windlass and hauled Koontz to the top, when he fainted. When his strength was restored by stimulants the two men fastened a cross stick to a new rope and lowered it to Carroll, who managed to straddle the stick and was hauled to the surface. Doctor Harrison was sent for from this place and made the trip one hundred miles in an automobile. He found Carroll in a bad shape. His feet were frozen and he was pitifully weak from suffering and lack of food and water. Carroll will recover.

UTAH MAY APPROPRIATE BIG SUM FOR EXHIBIT

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 30.—Not less than $500,000 should be appropriated by the State of Utah for exhibits at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego and the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis.

The officers and directors of the club are bending every effort towards making the affair a grand success. The club, in consideration of the appeal of the many followers of the organization, has decided to hold the biggest ball in the largest ball room. Ray Reed, President of the Seminole Club, has appointed George Fallery, who will have full charge of the grand ball, assisted by Charles Spengler, W. E. Andrews, H. W. Brown, A. E. Miles, D. H. McNitt.

PET PIGEONS EATING PILLS GO ON SPREE

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—For a year or more the attaches of the New York avenue police court, Brooklyn, have been feeding and petting a flock of pigeons belonging to a hermit who lives near the court. The pigeons, it is said, are so tame that daily they fly into the courtroom for crumbs and grain. The most fearless always perch on Chief Rayfield's desk to be fed.

When Rayfield arrived yesterday a court of his pet birds in the room, but the birds, having been fed, were not interested in the proceedings. The pigeons, it is said, are so tame that daily they fly into the courtroom for crumbs and grain. The most fearless always perch on Chief Rayfield's desk to be fed.

PLANS TESTS WITH FENCING STICKS FOR ARMY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The ordnance department of the army is conducting a series of tests with bayonet fencing sticks. The method of night attacks in the Russian-Japanese war and some of the engagements in the recent war in the Balkans have convinced the war department that the bayonet is still an important part of an infantryman's equipment.

The most promising stick undergoing test is a bamboo pole having a telescopic joint to break the force of the charge. The new cavalry saber has been submitted to the general staff with a number of modifications. The arm is a thrusting saber. The ball guard has been discarded and a more open guard, resembling that of the British and French sabers, has been substituted. The hand guard is curved to give greater flexibility, rather than any saber of any other arms.

FUGITIVE MANIAC ELUDES OFFICERS

Newell Visits Ranch Near Old Home and Then Disappears.

PLACERVILLE, Cal., Dec. 30.—Lafayette Newell, fugitive from the Napa Hotel, and suspected of the murder of Rose Lemons, yesterday visited the Westside Ranch, one mile from his former home near Somerset, ate a hearty meal and left the vicinity. On visiting the ranch yesterday Sheriff Hand found no trace of the fugitive and the bloodhounds brought from Napa failed to take the scent owing to frost that covered the ground.

Newell made no statement concerning the murder, said Weybridge, and the latter was afraid to question him. Newell left in good spirits. Sheriff Hand learned of the visit of Newell to the Weybridge home when he went to the Jukes home yesterday to bring here for safe-keeping 14-year-old Dora Dukes, whose life had been threatened by Newell. The girl is now in this city.

The search for Newell will continue, though the latter is in a mountainous country, and to all appearance has many friends who are extending him all possible aid in eluding officers.

BILL IS INTRODUCED TO STOP ELOPEMENTS

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30.—There will be no more elopements in Missouri if a bill to be introduced in the next legislature by the Central Council of Social Agencies becomes a law. Gretta Green no longer will flourish and marrying justices will have to go to work.

Lionberger Davis is chairman of the council, and Hugh Fullerton, probation officer of the juvenile court, is on the committee which is drawing up this and three other measures designed to aid sanctity to marriage.

Fullerton says the proposed anti-elopement law will provide that a couple contemplating marriage must apply at the recorder's office for a license a week before the day set for the marriage.
